Terrific Blast, Five Die

Explosion in Columbia, S.C. Bldg., Appliance Being Used To Ripen Bananas

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 14—(AP)—A devastating gas explosion in a banana-curing room wrecked a 100-foot section of the Columbia Curb market today, killed five men and sent eight other persons to hospitals with injuries.

Brick and broken timber were showered over the immediate area, while the concussion blasted out windows and shook building foundations several blocks away.

Those fatally injured were: Nolan W. Wessells, owner of a produce business in the market section; George Watkins, Roanoke Rapids, N. C., Robert Lee Black, Roanoke Rapids, Arville Gantt, Pelion, and J. C. Abernathy, Inman.

Fire Chief A. McMarsh said he believed the explosion resulted from some one's smoking in the market outside the room where bananas were being ripened by a gas process.

Accidentally Ignited

When the door to the curing chamber was opened, after the gas had been shut off, he theorized, the gas remaining in the room was accidentally ignited.

Mrs. Hickson Tomlinson, an employee of a wholesale house diagonally across the street from the explosion, said she witnessed the whole spectacle from a window.

"The whole building rose in the air, then swelled out at the sides, and tumbled back to the ground," she said. "Then I heard a big thud. The window where I was standing was blown out."

Structure Shattered

The one-story frame structure, about 100 feet by 20 feet, was shattered. How many persons were inside was not immediately known.

Ambulances rushed eight persons to hospitals included the later two reported dead. Firemen and police began digging into the wreckage to ascertain if others were buried by the rubble.

The Wessell building was at Pendleton and Assembly streets, one block from the state capitol building.

Thirteen More Join Revolt

LONDON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Thirteen more labor members of parliament joined a "revolt" against the Attlee government today, demanding a socialist foreign policy to prevent what a resolution called "an otherwise inevitable conflict between American capitalism and Soviet communism."

The Labor party rebels numbered at least 55. Another 20 labor MPS were opposing the government over peacetime military conscription. Labor holds about a two to one majority over the conservatives in the 640-seat house.

Each group of dissidents, constituting the first real crack in labor solidarity since Winston Churchill was forced from office 15 months ago, after a general election, offered its objection as an amendment to the speech of King George VI Tuesday. There appeared little chance that either amendment could muster a majority and thus unseat Attlee's cabinet.

Seek to Fulfill Court Mandate

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 14—(AP)—Sho-Me Power Association, Inc., filed an application today asking the Missouri Public Service Commission to permit it to become successor to Sho-Me Power Cooperative as the cooperative sought to fulfill a mandate of the state supreme court.

In January this year, the high court ruled that Sho-Me could not continue operation under the Missouri Cooperative Companies Act since it did not confine its operations to its members but also furnished power, water and ice service to the general public.

The court ordered Sho-Me Cooperative to reorganize under the state's general corporation laws within a year.

Blames Government For Sugar Scarcity

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—(AP)—The Republican congressional food study committee demanded today the termination of what it called a "government planned sugar scarcity."

In a statement issued by Chairman Jenkins (R-Ohio), the committee said the only reason for the scarcity of sugar is that "those in control in our government planned it that way." The group asserted there is a "deliberate policy of exporting that sugar."

Heavy Rain in Rome

ROME, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The heaviest rains here in two years flooded the Tiber today and filled public squares, disrupting traffic.

Road Could Lower Freight Schedules

Santa Fe Reports At ICC Hearing In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 14—(AP)—Great reductions in the time of freight schedules between St. Louis and the west and southwest would result from the proposed extension of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad to this city, L. M. Olson, Santa Fe division superintendent at Slaton, Texas, testified today at the I. C. C. hearing on the road's petition.

Olson, who has been assigned temporarily to make surveys on freight schedules, said he had demonstrated that St. Louis shippers would save 19 hours and 29 minutes per car, if their shipments went all the way by Santa Fe, as compared with the time now required. The bottleneck, he said, is terminal detention at Kansas City, in interchange between other roads and the Santa Fe. On St. Louis-bound traffic, he testified, 15 hours and 24 minutes per car would be saved.

Report Covers 7-Day Period

Olson's report on westbound shipments covered a seven-day period last November, and was based on movements of 300 westbound cars of freight delivered to the Santa Fe at Kansas City by connecting lines. The average detention per car in the Kansas City yards he found to be 28 hours and 56 minutes. Through handling by the Santa Fe, he testified, would reduce this detention to 9 hours and 27 minutes. On eastbound traffic he found the detention time to be 22 hours and 54 minutes, whereas the Santa Fe's schedules would reduce this to 7½ hours.

Improvements costing approximately $4,650,000 are planned to rehabilitate the Chicago and Alton railroad between Mexico, Mo., and Rock Creek Junction, Mo., in the event the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe is granted the right to use the road in extending its service to St. Louis, T. A. Blair, assistant chief engineer of the Santa Fe, testified at an I. C. C. hearing yesterday.

Expect Action On Theatre Tax

The city council will meet in recessed session at 7:30 o'clock tonight, at which time ordinances relative to a tax on the theatres will be brought up. If passed it is understood the theatres will open this weekend.

While there has been no official statement by either the city administration nor the theatre representatives it is believed that, following numerous conferences, a settlement has been reached.

It is understood that the ordinance, passed last August 7, levying a five percent license tax on the gross receipts of each theatre will be revoked and the new ordinance will call for a $500 annual occupational license tax on each theatre. Another ordinance will provide for a tax of one cent on each admittance ticket, which will be in addition to the $500 tax.

In the past the theatres have paid an occupational tax of $100 each per year.

All three theatres in Sedalia, two owned by the Fox Midwest Corporation, one by Joe Ghosen, closed after the passage of the ordinance levying the five per cent gross tax.

Artist Plays At Joint Club Luncheon

Rubinoff and his violin thrilled Sedalia Optimists and Kiwanians meeting jointly in Bothwell hotel Thursday noon, when the artist played his own violin arrangement of the Warsaw Concerto, written for the piano by Richard Addinsel during the destruction of Warsaw.

"To Each His Own," was a second number. However, after Rubinoff played the Warsaw Concerto, the audience was so impressed that to a man they arose and applauded him.

The famous musician was introduced by President Ben Klein of the Optimists and the Rev. Fr. A. J. Brunswick, president of Kiwanis.

George Chambers presided as program chairman.

Announcement was made that a meeting of the Kiwanis board of directors would be held Friday noon in Bothwell hotel.

Arthur Klang reported the illness of Kiwanian Henry Salveter who is a patient in Bothwell hospital.

Words of condolence on the death of the small son of Kiwanian Dan Robinson were expressed by Rev. Fr. Brunswick.

Quick Recovery

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 14—(AP)—This robbery was six months old when finally reported to police, but it took them just five minutes to solve.

The owner of the morturary, returning from a long vacation, reported the theft of a variety of items ranging from chapel chimes to light bulbs.

Police records were checked and the articles recovered — in the evidence room where they had been held since May 8 waiting a claimant.

An Afternoon Game for the Tigers Friday

Central Missouri Conference Title Is at Stake

Smith-Cotton high school Tigers wind up their 1946 football season Friday afternoon, starting at 2:30 o'clock, when they meet the Missouri Military Academy of Mexico, Mo., for the Central Missouri onference championship. Up to the present time the Tigers remain undefeated for the conference title and they are after an undisputed championship by winning their final game of the year.

It will be a big day in Sedalia Friday. It will be Homecoming for Smith-Cotton. It will be Dad's day at the football game. Crowning the Homecoming queen will take place between halves at the game and a big Homecoming dance is to be held at Convention hall that night.

Snake Dance Tonight

Tonight Smith-Cotton students will stage a Snake Dance downtown starting at the court house at 6:30 o'clock and led by the Smith-Cotton high school band. Through the business district the parade will go and end up on the gridiron at the high school. Then a huge bonfire will be lighted and school yells will be given around the roaring fire.

The ball game was changed from Friday night to Friday afternoon on request from the Military Academy and the team is hoping the change will not affect the attendance to see this contest.

Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow and his assistant coach Bob Rogers are confident the Tigers will win in this game and have a clear slate for the conference season. "We got off to a bad start this year but are winding up a most successful season and are headed for our first post-war championship of the conference," Dow said.

Local Boys in Good Condition

Coach Joe Bailey's cadets will be out to stop the Tigers in this conference tilt. However, a loss for Sedalia will mean nothing less than a tie with Columbia for the title.

The local aggregation as a whole is in excellent condition for the game tomorrow. Not a boy has shown up with an injury serious enough to keep him out of the battle. The first string men are in perfect shape for the opening kickoff and their intention is to start piling up points.

Lineups for the game will be:

Famous Musician In Concert at High School Tonight

David Rubinoff, violinist, was greeted today upon his arrival at 9:30 a. m. with a reception in the Ambassador room at the Hotel Bothwell by the Optimist club, which is sponsoring Rubinoff's first appearance in Sedalia.

Also with him is Makofka Alexander, pianist, his accompanist, and his representative, Dick Brown.

At 10:45 a. m. Rubinoff appeared at the Sacred Heart parochial school, where he gave a short program. At 3:30 he gave a matinee program at the Smith-Cotton high school. Programs were also given at two grade schools, Washington and Broadway. At 8 o'clock tonight a full length concert will be presented by Rubinoff in the auditorium of the Smith-Cotton high school.

Rubinoff's repertoire includes many well known and favorite pieces, several of which will be played tonight. Among them are "Claire De Lune," "Rhapsody in Blue," Chopin's "Polinaise" and the "Warsaw Concerto."

When Rubinoff appears tonight he will play one of the most precious instruments in the world, the famed Romanoff-Stradivarius violin which is insured for $100,000.

Mrs. Rubinoff, who usually accompanies Rubinoff on his concert tours, was called home a short time ago to Wichita Falls, Texas, because of the illness of their son, Rubin Rubinoff.

Rubinoff appeared at Columbia, Mo., and will present a concert in Jefferson City.

Child Labor Law Violated

JOPLIN, Mo., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Meeker Company, Joplin leather goods manufacturing concern, was assessed fines totaling $750 yesterday by Judge Albert A. Ridge on a plea of guilty to labor department charges of violating the child labor law in the employment of five youths under 16 years old.

There were eight counts in the complaint. Judge Ridge assessed fines of $200 in each of three counts, $50 in each of three other counts, and dismissed two counts. In all of the cases, the company contended, the youths were employed only for brief periods, in one instance only seven days, before attaining the age of 16. Company knowledge that the children were under 16 was admitted in only two instances.

Dismiss Bomb Picture Case

BALTIMORE, Nov. 14.—(AP)—U. S. Commissioner James K. Cullen today dismissed charges against three former service men the government accused of attempting to peddle unauthorized pictures of atomic bomb equipment.

Cullen, in refusing to hold the three for federal grand jury action, said he did not feel that "sufficient evidence had been presented to substantiate the charge.

"I do not know whether such evidence exists," he declared.

"The district attorney may still take the case to the grand jury if there is such evidence. I will not frown upon such a move."

U. S. District Attorney J. Bernard Flynn said immediately after the hearing he had "no comment" concerning any further government efforts to prosecute the case.

President Flying to Key West For Seven Day Rest Trip

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—President Truman will fly to Florida Sunday for a week's vacation at Key West, the White House announced today.

Mr. Truman will leave Washington at 10 a. m. (EST) 9 P. M. CST) Sunday, traveling aboard the President's special four-engined plane.

He will arrive at Boca Chica airport at about 4 p. m. (EST) (3 p. m. CST)

From there he will go by automobile to the naval base at Key West, about a 20-minute drive.

In announcing the plans, Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters "This is a rest trip."

Ross said it may be the last opportunity Mr. Truman will have to get away for that long a period for some time.

Returns November 25

The President plans to leave Key West by plane Saturday, November 23, arriving in Washington in late afternoon.

He will be accompanied by Clark Clifford, presidential counsel; Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, White House physician; Capt. James H. Foskett, naval aide; Edwin A. Locke, Jr., a special assistant; Capt. C. L. Freeman, skipper of the Presidential yacht Williamsburg, and Ross.

During his seven-day stay at Key West the President will occupy the quarters of the naval base commandant.

Ross said the President "may or may not go fishing now and then—he will if the spirit moves him."

No Set Program

Thus far there is no set program, Ross added.

Asked if the trip had been suggested by Dr. Graham, Ross replied:

"Nobody in particular suggested it. It just grew up as these things do. However, Dr. Graham is all in favor of it."

Asked whether Mr. Truman is feeling any effects of the cold he picked up in Missouri last week, Ross replied no, and added that the President is "feeling very well."

The President will board the presidential yacht shortly after noon tomorrow for a cruise to Annapolis, where on Saturday he will inspect the naval academy and watch the Navy-Penn state football game.

Republicans Plan for New Legislation

Final Drafting Early in January, States Sen. Taft

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—(AP)—Senotor Robert Taft of Ohio forecast today that Republicans will delay final drafting of any party legislative program for the GOP-controlled congress until early in January.

Any such delay probably would lay the Republican proposals before congress after President Truman outlines his Democratic administration requests for legislation in the annual state of the union message.

Taft told a reporter the GOP senate and house steering committees probably will produce, at meetings today and tomorrow, a list of subjects on which subcommittees will be asked to prepare recommendations or bills for presentation at conferences of all party members early in January.

"The new members of the senate and house must have a full voice in deciding our policies," Taft said. "We hope to have recommendations to lay before them but the conferences will make the final decision."

The Republicans will proceed with their program without references to any proposals the Democrats may make, he added.

Joint Meeting Friday

The two GOP steering committees, meeting in separate sessions today, will hold a joint meeting tomorrow.

Taft, chairman of the senate committee, declined any comment on the possibility that he may become a candidate for majority floor leader. He held numerous conferences with senators throughout the day, however, in an apparent effort to decide whether he will seek the post.

There have been indications that Senator Wallace White of Maine, now the minority leader, will be a candidate if Taft does not enter the race.

Taft took occasion to deny that he is involved in any way in the contest among Reps. Clarence Brown (Ohio), Charles Halleck (Ind) and Thomas Jenkins (Ohio) for house majority floor leader. The Ohio senator said he is not backing Brown, as reported in some quarters, adding that he has kept hands off the house race.

Hard Boiled, Anyway

ELGIN, Ill., Nov. 14—(AP)—Police Sgt. A. R. Gurgeson and Patrolman George Kern sped to the home of Mrs. Frank C. Berndt, wife of a policeman, after the reported strange popping sounds in the basement.

"Maybe a hardboiled yegg," the officers said as they went into the basemnt.

But th popping noise, they discovered, was six hard boiled eggs which had exploded when the water in which they were being cooked boiled away.

Mrs. Berndt said her husband started to cook the eggs for a hunting trip — then had forgotten about them.

More Batteries

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—(AP)—More storage batteries for the American motorists' cars will appear on the market shortly as a result of the increased price of lead following decontrol, the Bureau of Mines predicted today.

Two C. of C. Meetings In Next Few Days

Board members of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce will meet at noon Friday at the Interlude.

The annual membership meeting, at which Abe Silverman and other newly elected officers and directors will be installed, will be held on Tuesday night at the Epworth Methodist church, Broadway and Engineer.

Mercy Treks Continue In Colorado

More Rain in Los Angeles Today; Hail in Hollywood

By the Associated Press

Los Angeles began mopping up operations today, after one of the worst early-season Southern California storms on record, and army rescue teams continued their mercy treks in the Denver, Colorado, area.

Specially trained army weasel crews, flown in from Chicago, drove their tracked vehicles through isolated and snow blocked country roads to bring sick persons to medical centers. American Red Cross emergency field headquarters were established at Rush, Colo., east of Colorado Springs.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—(AP)—Heavy snowstorms in the Rocky Mountain area have buried about 100,000 acres of unharvested sugar beets, threatening the loss of 170,000 tons of already scarce sugar, the agriculture department said today.

Officials emphasized that there has been no serious damage so far. If the snows melt soon, they added, the bulk of the beets can be retrieved and processed.

Generally speaking, however, blue skies and fair weather prevailed over the United States east of the Rocky mountains, aiding fliers dropping cottonseed cake feed to marooned herds of western cattle in the Denver snow area.

More Rain in L. A.

Although weather bureau forecasters said the storm center which struck Los Angeles had moved into Nevada, Los Angeles again was soaked early today by heavy rain, accompanied by brilliant lightning.

Hail fell in Hollywood.

The Los Angeles area death toll rose to two. In addition 11 persons were missing in a long overdue air liner.

Forecasters, looking ahead toward the week end, said a cold air mass now in Northwest Canada would hit the plains, and warned citizens to be sure to have antifreeze in their car radiators.

St. Louis Laundries To Increase Prices

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Several St. Louis laundries will increase prices as much as 20 per cent Monday as a result of the end of government controls on laundry services, managers said today.

The managers said the increase is necessary to offset additional labor and material costs.

Under OPA men's shirts were laundered on a cash and carry basis for 10 cents each. One company here announced the price will be 15 cents apiece.

Missing Plane May be Spotted

BURBANK, Cal., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A search pilot reported spotting today what he believed might be the wreckage of a Western Airlines passenger plane, missing since early yesterday with 11 aboard, and another radioed he had sighted a wide swath in a tempered area which might have been cut by a crashing aircraft.

The sheriff's office said the destruction of the trees was observed on the slope of Mt. Lukins, five miles north of Angeles Crest highway and approximately 15 miles north of Glendale.

The possible wreckage was sighted on Mt. Pacifoco, near the Angeles Crest highway not far from Chilao Flats at an altitude of about 5,000 feet. The latter spot is in the same general area as the place where two county road workers seeing a "terrific flash" at the approximate time the plane disappeared.

Meanwhile about a dozen planes combed a rugged 500 square mile area north of here where the two-engined craft disappeared.

Russian Actions Attacked

Australian States U.S. Work Stultified By Soviet Use of Big Power Veto

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Cuba charged today that retention of the veto in the United Nations made small countries "vassals and satellites" subject to a five power "dictatorship."

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 14—(AP)—Australia today attacked the Soviet Union for invoking the big power veto 10 times and said these acts have "stultified" the work of the United Nations Security Council. He said that these Russian actions undermined confidence in the council and lessened its ability to deal effectively with matters before it.

Leading of debate on the explosive issue in the General Assembly's 51-nation political committee, Delegate Paul Hasluck, of Australia, called for a complete review of the veto section which gives Russia, Great Britain, the United States, France and China the right to block any major decision with a single vote.

"The plain and rather ugly fact is that a permanent member has claimed successfully that he can select at will those resolutions on which he wishes to exercise the veto, and in doing so, the form and content of the resolutions are of less concern to him than his own opinion of what some fellow member of the council has meant or might mean by making such proposals," Hasluck said.

Excessive Use of Veto

Under the charter the permanent members may veto any substantive question, but not one of procedure, and Hasluck directed much of his attack against repeated insistence of the Russians that they had the right to determine which matters were substantive and which were procedural.

"The excessive claims made for the use of the veto had stultified the work of the security council and have undermined confidence in it and lessened the council's ability to deal effectively with the matters brought before it," Hasluck declared and added:

"By employing the veto as an instrument of national policy, a permanent member, by so acting, has forgotten its representative capacity and its obligations under the charter to act on behalf of all other members."

Necessary Steps

Stressing that Australia was not asking for revision of the charter at this time, Hasluck declared that the only hope for making the council work rested in steps such as these:

1 Moderation on the part of the Big Five council members in exercise of their right of veto.

2 An increased measure of consultation and a spirit of give and take among permanent members themselves in an endeavor to achieve that measure of great power unanimity which is necessary for the smooth working of the Security Council and which they themselves are pledged to devote to the purpose and principles of the U. N.

3 A development by the council of recognized procedures which would enable it to discharge its duties in a uniform way without the necessity of taking repeat votes at each stage in the process of conciliation or settlement and thus placing a recurrent strain on the principle of unanimity.

Hasluck did not mention France, which invoked the veto once during voting on the Spanish case. The other three permanent members have not vetoed.

Senator Tom Conley (D-Tex.) of the U. S. delegation was expected to present the United States viewpoint on the veto issue tomorrow.

Probable Cost Of Television

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Joseph Gerl, a director of the Radio Manufacturers' Association, said today the average popular television set is going to cost from $250 to $400, plus tax.

He made the estimate in an address before a luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club here.

Gerl, president of Sonora Radio and Television Corp., said television will be a commercial reality throughout the nation within a year. He added that the industry, in time, would offer jobs for 2,500,000 persons if it were not "held back" by the 10 per cent excise tax which now applies on equipment.

Asserting that the tax adds another $25 to $40 to the cost of a set, Gerl said it is a considerable deterrent to purchasers.

Gerl foresaw the possibility that 25,000,000 sets could be sold in this country in the next decade.

Convinced Santa Lives In United States

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 14—(AP)—Alaskan children, reports Larry Dierks of American airlines are becoming convinced that Santa Claus lives in the United States.

Dierks is back here after spending several weeks in Alaska which the cargo division of the company was carrying food supplies to the territory by air during the shipping strike. He reported the food situation still serious—a dinner costs $5. The line has flown 373 tons of food from the United States he said.

Airlines---The Crash and the Cure

U.S. Has No Control Over Pilots Who Fly the Foreign Airliners Here

The new electric gyro-pilot beside the pilot's hand in the cockpit above is one of the new instrument control methods being developed to cope with human failures in the most critical moments of flight—landings and takeoffs. Once pilot lines this gadget up with the beam, it will land the plane by itself if necessary.

Editor's Note: To find the reason for the tragic boom in crashes that has stalked this year's big boom in air travel, an NEA Service staff writer went to airline officials, pilots, maintenance men, safety experts. This is last of two dispatches in which he tells you their answers.

By S. BURTON HEALTH
NEA Staff Correspondent

The United States has absolutely no direct contral over either the air-worthiness of foreign planes that fly to and from this country or over the competency of the pilots that handle them.

Under the present international setup—which the Provisional International Civil Aviation Organization is trying to reform—here is the situation:

1. We are bound by reciprocity to grant operating rights to the chosen instruments of those foreign nations who permit American lines to operate there.

2. We are bound by reciprocity to accept any plane that is satisfactory to the nation of its origin, and any pilot who is permitted by that nation to fly.

3. We can not inspect such foreign planes, or require them to conform to American standards for safety. Nor can we test such pilots, or make them meet the tests applied to our own commercial fliers.

This is emphasized by the Sabena crash in Newfoundland that cost 27 lives. The Sabena (Belgian National Airlines) has not been certified to operate to and from this country. The flight that crashed at Gander was a survey run, of which four had been sanctioned by our CAA for the month of September, with four more to be arranged for October. On a charter basis, Sabena carried passengers.

First Time At Gander

The Sabena pilot had never been into or out of Gander airport, though no American is permitted to captain a ship into any field until he has made both day and night instrument and contact approaches to that field.

Most foreign lines operating to this country are said to be abiding by our regulations. But that is out of the goodness of their hearts and their desire to get business and avoid accidents. Foreign operators have told this correspondent that their equipment and pilots never had been checked by the CAA, and a spokesman for that organization says it has no right to make such checks. It can only require that foreign pilots familiarize themselves with our procedures and field equipment.

Under such circumstances it may be fortunate that only one foreign plane operating to this country has been involved in a serious accident. Some of those lines, at least, would welcome having the CAA take over policing and see that all conform to our safety regulations.

But as the record goes, this would not help much with the gruesome air toll that 1946 has produced thus far.

At least in part as a result of the Constellation crash at Reading last July, American planes are being built—and recamped—to eliminate most of the known bugs that can cause accidents. Fire hazards are being reduced, in particular.

Nothing is being done about pilots. If those with whom this correspondent has talked are correct, little can be done directly. They are chosen with care, only after ample experience, and are trained and supervised with care. Being human, they err now and then. One error, under stress, with split seconds for vital decisions, can mean death for thirty, forty, fifty or sixty passengers in big modern planes.

The consensus is that the way to reduce accidents due to pilot error is to provide fliers with the best of scientific assistance during the most vital few minutes in any flight—landings and takeoffs. Study the list of fatal crashes, and you will find that a large proportion occurs coming into or leaving airports.

Within a relatively short time now every major airport will have some type of radar blind landing equipment. Installation was delayed for some time by indecision and dispute as to types, then by the war. Now there are three principal varieties that have proven themselves at least in part.

One permits a ground crew, with several radars, to watch the incoming plane and everything around, and to "talk in" the pilot by giving him running detailed instructions, so that he can put his wheels almost on the ground without necessity for seeing out of the cockpit.

Another is an instrument in the cockpit, in which the pilot can see what is ahead. By keeping two hairlines crossed he can feel his way almost onto the ground, blind, before having to make a contact landing.

A third is an extension of the second, in which the pilot actually turns his plane over to the radio controls until he is almost on the ground. Then, below the ceiling, he takes over for the final landing.

Each of these has been used, in experiment, for actual wheel-touching landings, but there is no idea that any of them would be used that way, for a while, with passengers aboard a transport.

Nobody connected with commercial aviation seems to have much doubt that one of these, or some other electronic device perhaps yet to come, is the answer to the danger of "pilot error" and to the accidents that arise from it.

"The less the pliot has to do himself, the less decisions he has to make under stress, the smaller the chance that he will make a wrong decision," they agree.

Check over what has happened in every major accident in this country this autumn, and you will find that such automatic controls—if they work as advertised—would probably have averted the disaster.

WORN OUT FROM GETTING UP NIGHTS?

● If you get up nights—have frequent desire to pass your water—yes, and have backache, due to excess acidity in the urine, be glad you're reading this:

Three generations ago Dr. Kilmer, a famous doctor, found hundreds of his patients with this trouble. So he made a medicine of 16 herbs, roots, vegetables, balsams. He called it "Swamp-Root." Millions of men and women have taken it—often with amazing results.

Swamp-Root goes right to work to flush out kidneys . . . increases flow of urine, helping relieve excess acidity . . . so the irritated bladder gets a good flushing out, too. Many report getting a good night's sleep after the first few doses. Caution: take as directed.

For free trial supply, send to Dept. R, Kilmer & Co., Inc., Box 1255, Stamford, Conn. Or—get full-sized bottle of Swamp-Root today at your drugstore.

Smith-Cotton Speech Season Is Launched

The speech season at Smith-Cotton high school was opened Wednesday, when twenty-three students participated in a series of discussions and debate on the debate question for 1946-47, at Central State College at Warrensburg, Mo. The question for the year is: Resolved, That the Federal Government Should Provide a Complete System of Medical Care, Available to All Citizens at Public Expense.

Preceding the other discussions Jack Taylor from Sedalia took part in a discussion on the essentials of good speech. Jean Callis acted as chairman for the different rounds of discussion.

Four Smith-Cotton students received proficiency awards for the outstanding work in the discussions. They were: Jean Callis, G. B. Thompson, Bob Hogan and Bill Rose. Following the discussions the negative team of Smith-Cotton debated the affirmative team from Lillis high school in Kansas City, in an exhibition debate, before the entire group of students and coaches participating. The team from Sedalia is composed of Joe Potts and Jean Handley.

At a banquet at five-thirty held at Riggles' Bob Hogan gave a reading, "The Family at Football," as a part of the after dinner program put on by the participating students from the different towns. The presentation of awards was also made at the dinner.

Mrs. Routszong then went on to tell that there are girls enrolled from every state in the union except New Hampshire and from fifteen foreign countries. Some of the distinctive features, she said, were the college bank and postoffice, the infirmary, the swap shop, the listening room where foreign language students listen to recordings and practice from them, the girls' dress shop where girls may select materials and patterns and either make their clothes or have them made.

The dress shop department gave a fashion show, Mrs. Routszong said, which would do credit to a large store. The college has its own country club and stables and there is also a course in horseback riding.

Addresses were given by members of the faculty, Mrs. Routszong stated, on their special subjects and also by such outstanding people as Clyde Eagleton, the delegate to the United Nations Conference in San Francisco and Dumbarton Oakes conference; by Thomas H. Beck, president and director of the Crowell-Collier publishing company, who told of his trip to watch the atom bomb test.

Club Program On Life of Edward Grieg

The program presented at the Helen G. Steele Music Club Wednesday afternoon was taken from the operetta "Song of Norway," which is playing at the present time in New York City.

Mrs. John M. Rodeman and Mrs. Arthur Klang were co-chairman of the program.

The operetta is based on the life of Edvard Grieg and his compositions were used throughout. Mrs. Klang, as the narrator, opened the program with a beautiful description of Norway where Grieg was born and lived. She said that Grieg, who was one of the most universally known and enjoyed composers, wrote during the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. He has done more, perhaps, than any other person, she said, to interpret and raise to their deserved height, the life and traditions of Norway. He caught the mood of his country and has captured it forever in some of the finest music ever written, Mrs. Klang said.

Was An Invalid

Greig was born in Bergen, Norway, Mrs. Klang said, where he spent his youth, later continuing his musical education in Leipzig and Copenhagen. He was an invalid almost all of his life but found joy in the music within him. He married Nina Hagerup, who was his cousin and childhood friend. He died at the age of sixty-four in 1907.

As the story of his success as a composer and his romance was told by Mrs. Klang it was interspersed with background music by Miss Lillian Fox at the piano. Other musical numbers were as follows: Two pianos, Part I, Concerto in A Minor, Mrs. Raymond Peterson and Mrs. Henry Salvater; violin, "Freddie and His Fiddle," Mrs. John M. Rodeman; voice, "Strange Magis," Solveijg's Song" and "I Love You," Mrs. Robert Seelan; violin, "To Spring" Mrs. John M. Rodeman; two piano, Part II, Concerto in A Minor, Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Salveter. Mrs. A. R. Beach and Mrs. Salvater were accompanists.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. F. Yancey.

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Herbert Mason and Mrs. Louis Yunker reported for the ways and means committee on the year book and the sale of symphony tickets. Mrs. A. Jerry Harlan reminded the club of the Rubinoff concert.

Welcome for Circus Folks

By Francis E. Barden

HUGO, Okla., Nov. 14—(AP)—The old order changed in this southwest circus center today and the performers went to the show.

The entire main street of this city of 6,500 was utrned into a giant midway, complete with bearded ladies, clowns, elephants, monkeys and even a hyena.

Performers of four circuses and a medicine show were given a gala welcome home to their winter quarters by townspeople who put on a show of their own.

It was a double-barreled celebration. It gave the troupers a chance to be spectators for a change. And it gave Hugo citizens a chance to realize that age-old desire to be a circus performer.

All Participated

Doctors, lawyers, housewives, school kids participated. Sedate businessmen became clowns and matrons were made up to resemble freaks. Dozens of amateur acts dotted the city. Other townspeople peddled souvenirs, lemonade and hot dogs.

In contrast to regular shows, everything was free.

Oklahoma's Gov. Robert S. Kerr made the celebration official by issuing a proclamation setting today aside as 'Circus Roundup Day."

Shows welcomed to winter quarters were the Hugo Brothers circus, the Casey Smith shows, the Stevens Brothers circus, the Al G. Kelley-Miller Brothers circus and a medicine show operated by oldtimer Dan Ghering.

Business House Door Unlocked

The door to the Holland Furnace Co., 115 East Main street, was found unlocked about 2 o'clock this morning when police were making their regular check of business houses. Nothing appeared to have been disturbed.

Triplets

Perhaps there's a housing shortage in the egg world, too. Walter Simmelink, Cleveland egg merchant suspected as much, anyway, when while candling eggs he detected three yolks under one roof. Above, Miss Anne Chute verifies the discovery in a frying pan.

The Daily Washington Merry-go-Round

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—Most important question to be decided at the Republican organization meetings to be held on Capitol Hill today will be the time honored matter of "seniority" In other words, does the ablest man sit as chairman of a committee or the party hack with the "most-est" service?

This was one thing which handicapped congress under the Democrats. The old-timers usually were southern conservatives who, because of seniority, were given charge of important committees.

The Republicans have a real chance to change this. In the first place, a new broom can always sweep clean. Secondly, there was much talk when the congressional reorganization act was passed about abolishing seniority.

If committee chairman were picked on the basis of brains, not seniority, hard-working, trigger-brained Albert J. Engel of Muskegon, Mich., would be chairman of the important appropriations committee, instead of moss-back congressman John Taber of Auburn, N. Y. Engel's watchful eye on war department spending was described by Gen. George Marshal as one of the health est influences on the army.

Again, if brains rather than age prevailed, able Representative Daniel Reed of Dunkirk, N. Y., would become chairman of the ways and means committee, instead of babbling, bumptious Harold Knutson of Minnesota.

Brains Don't Matter

First test of seniority may come if Senator Joe Ball of Minnesota attempts to leapfrog over Vermont's George Aiken as chairman of the senate education and labor committee. This happens to be one case where the man with the seniority — Aiken —is thoroughly qualified for the job.

Ball, on the other hand, is branded by both AFL and CIO as the "friend of U. S. Steel." Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, who had a fine record on the war labor board, might also be picked as chairman of the labor committee should seniority be cast aside.

If seniority prevails, chairmanship of the highly important new national defense committee (merging the military affairs and naval affairs committees) will go to Senator Chan Gurney of South Dakota, a brass-hat bellboy. Senators Charles Tobey of New Hampshire or Owen Brewster of Maine, both abler men, would be logical choices over Gurney if brains were considered important. But, according to many solons in both parties, they aren't. The Republicans have a real chance to break with hide-bound precedent, but the betting odds are they won't take it.

Will Rogers on Bench

Last spring, California's popular Democratic attorney general, Bob Kenny, was defeated in the state's gubernatorial primary by Governor Earl Warren. This week, Kenny received the following wire from defeated Democratic senatorial candidate, Will Rogers, Jr.:

"Dear Bob, Please move over."

Replied Kenny: "Dear Will, Frankly there's no more room on the mourners' bench."

Capital Chaff

Harold Ickes, stalwart of the Roosevelt cabinet, strongly opposed the appointment of Elliott Roosevelt to the committee of Progressives to carry out Roosevelt ideals. In the end, Ickes was overruled. . . . Secretary of War Patterson requires a top aide to be on the job in the war department when he leaves town; therefore under Secretary Royall, assistant secretaries Symington and Peterson drew straws to see who would stay home during the Army-Notre Dame game. Symington lost. However, it will now be his turn to see the Army-Navy game. . . Something strange is going on inside the federal communications commission. It recently awarded a radio station to J. Harold Smith, whose radio programs were such that the Scripps-Howard station in Knoxville dropped him from the air. Now, thanks to the FCC, Mr. Smith can go to town on his own station. . . . GOP chairman Carroll Reece was greatly surprised last week when Bob Hannegan called him on the phone and offered his congratulations. "You fellows fought a good fight," Hannegan said, 'and as long as you had to win, I'm glad you won by a big majority. Congratulations."

War Secretary Entertains

Three GI's from Walter Reed hospital are still talking about the big weekend they spent with the secretary of war at the Army-Notre Dame game.

Mrs. Robert Patterson, wife of the secretary of war, works among wounded GI's at the Army's Walter Reed hospital, and selected three of them to go with her husband to the game. The lucky veterans were Pfc. James O. Wilson, Winston Salem, N. C.; Sgt. Gerald R. Groves, Meadville, Pa.; and Cpl. John English, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Not only did they ride in Secretary Patterson's private plane to New York and see the game as his guests, but afterwards, Wall Street Financier Floyd Odlum and his wife Jaqueline Cochran invited them to lunch at their ornate Park avenue apartment.

Under the Dome

Retiring Speaker Sam Rayburn tells friends that he will serve in the house only one more term. Sam has been a congressional fixture for 35 years, now wants to retire. . . . High up on the list to succeed Bob Hannegan as the Democratic national committee chairman is astute governor Bob Kerr of Oklahoma. His appointment would break a Democratic tradition that national committeemen must be Irish and from a big City. . . . Thirteen of the 29 senators who voted against the Case bill were up for reelection this year. Three were licked in the primaries, five beaten in the general election, and Senator Jim Mead of New York was defeated in his race for governor. That means nine out of 13 pro-labor senators fell by the wayside. Other senators consider this significant. It is one reason why a lot of them will lean anti-Labor in the next congress. . . . Phil Murray, who planned to resign as head of the CIO at the CIO national convention in Atlantic City, now will stay on. He will attempt to unify left and right-wing CIO factions in order to resist the anti-Labor trend in congress. . . . Henry Wallace was not the only man who was asked to tone down his criticism of a leading GOP candidate — in his case, Vandenberg of Michigan. In Massachusetts, also, Sen. Claude Pepper was asked by Governor Tobin's campaign leaders to gloss over the isolationist record of Senator Cabot Lodge. . . . Top Democrats met in New York after the Army--Notre Dame game for a "cocktail party," including Bob Hannegan, Mayor Kelly of Chicago, Boss Hague of Jersey City, Paul Fitzpatrick of New York, Jimmy Walker, ex-mayor of New York; Frank Walker, ex-Democratic chairman; Ed Pauley, secretary of commerce Averell Harriman, attorney general Tom Clark, pianist Eddie Duchin and songster Morton Downey. . . . Miracle was that not much politics was discussed. They were too weary.

GOP Farm Prospects

Now that the elections are over, the American farmer, like the laboring man, would like to know what is in store for him in the new G. O. P.-controlled congress. Here is a Merry-Go-Round forecast of what will happen:

There will be no major change in the government's farm program for the next two years — partly because the coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats will remain in the driver's seat.

However, you will hear the same hue and cry for parity prices on farm products in order to make them conform with higher living costs, and the first move will be to increase the price of potatoes.

There is a tremendous potato surplus this year, and though a considerable portion of the crop has been diverted to animal feed and alcohol, potato producers are protesting that they are receiving far below parity prices. Furthermore potatoes are a "GOP crop" from the rock-ribbed Republican state of Maine and the recently voted Republican state of Idaho. Spuds, therefore, will get relief.

The new congress also will enact a law coordinating soil conservation functions now handled by the soil conservation service, the field service branch of the production and marketing administration, the extension service of the department of agriculture and other agencies.

Congress will vote a similar coordination of all agencies engaging in farm credit, including: The Farm Credit Administration, the Federal Land banks, intermediate credit banks and the farmers home administration. This means that all farm credit functions will be taken out from under the Democratic secretary of agriculture and will be administered by an independent board, which of course, will include several Republicans.

New Awards to Medical Men

Dr. Baehr — Dr. Cori — Dr. Wiener — Dr. Landsteiner

Dr. Mahoney — Dr. Richards — Dr. Levine — Dr. Soper

The Lasker Awards, first of a new series of annual honors for public health services, comparable to the Pulitzer Prizes, were presented by Dr. George Baehr, left above, president, New York Academy of Medicine, to the medical experts pictured here.

The presentation took place at the 74th annual meeting of the American Public Health Association in Cleveland, Ohio. Donated to the association by Albert and Mary Lasker, the awards consist of a gold statuette of Winged Victory and $1,000.

Individuals honored are: Dr. Carl F. Cori, Washington University School of Medicine, for discovering how insulin permits the body of a diabetic to burn sugar; the late Dr. Karl Landsteiner and Doctors Philip Levine of Plainfield, N. J., and Alexander S. Wiener of New York City, in a joint award as co-discoverers of the vital RH factor in blood; Dr. Fred L. Soper, Rockefeller Foundation, for achieving absolute control of yellow fever and malaria; Dr. John F. Mahoney, U. S. Public Health Service, for a new penicillin treatment of syphilis; and Dr. Alfred N. Richards for outstanding wartime medical research.

Checks Blame To Hannegan

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 14—(AP)—Rep. Roger C. Slaughter (D) Kansas City Wednesday attributed widespread Democratic defeats in last week's general election to what he called the bad management of Robert E. Hannegan, Democratic national chairman.

"Hannegan has never headed anything in this state that didn't end in a tailspin," Slaughter said.

Slaughter was defeated in the fifth congressional district Democratic primary last August after President Truman intervened for Enos A. Axtell, a political unknown. Axtell was edged out in the general election by a Republican, Albert L. Reeves, Jr.

Slaughter said he thought the Democratic party was in critical condition as the result of last week's sweep giving Republicans control of both the national house and senate.

"I think Hannegan is responsible," he said in an interview, "for the trouble Mr. Truman is in now. I think he gave him the phony, specious advice that convinced him he had to have the support of the lunatic fringe, including the CIO-PAC."

The same kind of advice, the retiring congressman said, led to his difference with President Truman over support of fair employment practices legislation which Slaughter helped to kill as a member of the powerful house rules committee.

Cut Deeper On Federal Payroll

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—(AP) At least 115,000 civilian workers of the federal government in this country and its possessions appear slated for dismissal by New Year's day.

Budget Director James E. Webb, carrying forward a program of payroll paring Weednesday ordered 93,400 army-navy civilian employes cut off the rolls, by Jan. 1, making a 1,000,000 reduction in that sector since V-J day.

This development came on top of word from OPA that dismissal notices had been sent to 10,000 of that agency's workers and another 12,000 would get their notices by the end of this month.

Reductions in other agencies also were in the making for later this month, but the net effect might be diminished or offset by further increases in employes of the still-growing veterans and war assets administration.

In any event, the 115,000 cutback in army-navy-OPApayrolls appeared likely to trim overall federal employment — excluding that in foreign countries—to below 2,250,000 by New Year's day compared with a V-J day figure of well over 3,000,000.

Officials said flatly that the new reductions were a continuance of the administration's own program and were not influenced by payroll cut demands voiced by Republicans since their election triumph.

OPA To Prosecute Price Violations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—(AP)—OPA announced Wednesday it will proceed with prosecution of more than 10,000 damage suits and some 1,000 criminal cases involving claims of price control violations.

"Removal of controls means no amnesty for those who have been accused," an OPA enforcement official told a reporter. "Even though ceilings are out, we will prosecute if we get evidence of violations which occurred while regulations were in effect."

Dies On Entry At Home Of Sister Who Passed Away

MOBERLY, Mo., Nov. 14—(AP)—Miss Ella McKenna, 78, St. Louis, collapsed and died here Tuesday night as she entered the home of her sister, Mrs. W. O. Kefe, who died earlier in the day.

Mrs. O'Keefe was the widow of one of the pioneers in the wholesale grocery business in this section of the state.

The two sisters are survived by another sister, Mrs. Mollie McGrade (5817 Page) St. Louis.

REA Expansion On Power Lines

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 14—(AP) Missouri's 39 REA-financed cooperatives have expanded their distribution of electric power almost ten times within the last five years—from 13 million to 126 million kilowatt hours a year—the Southwestern Power Administration reported Wednesday.

During the same five-year period, the SPA said, the number of consumers served by the co-ops increased about 3½ times, indicating increased use of electricity on the average farm. In the 11 years since the Rural Electrification Administration was established, the number of electrified farms in Missouri rose from 17,000 to more than 93,000.

So far this year, co-ops in the state have added more than 17,000 new consumers to their lines. Currently available REA funds will permit construction of power lines to serve some 34,000 new rural consumers while pending loan applications would permit extensions to serve 40,000 more.

Great Britain is After a Champion

By Bill Macklin

LONDON, Nov. 14—(AP)—Boxing promoter Jack Solomons has launched a new drive to strengthen Britain's challenge for the world heavyweight title held by Joe Louis.

Solomons told a news conference yesterday he hopes to lure some worthy contenders with 1,000 pounds ($4,000) as prizes in an open heavyweight contest starting Dec. 17.

With only one good heavyweight contender in hand, empire champion Bruce Woodcock, Solomons feels there must be some younger swatters in the United Kingdom who might be induced to come out for cold cash.

"There's such a difference between Woodcock and Freddie Mills (British light heavyweight champion who sometimes fights above weight) that we must encourage youngsters who have learned the rudiments and need a chance to show their prowess," Solomons explained.

Roars Explained

Mysterious roars emanating from old Rumbling Bald mountain, Lake Lure, N. C., have been explained by scientists as being caused by boulders falling from the tops of caves deep in the mountain.

Banned Golfing

People became so interested in golf that they were neglectful of their archery practice, so Scotland imposed a ban on golf in 1491.

Nebraska is Favored Over Iowa State

Joe Golding Will Play for Sooners Against Missouri

By Skipper Patrick

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 14—(AP)—Coach Mike Michalske's Iowa State Cyclones will attempt to salvage something from a disasterous season in their final game of the year against the Nebraska Cornhuskers at Lincoln, Neb., Saturday.

The odds will favor Nebraska heavily.

Iowa State- victor only over last place Kansas State in four Big Six games this fall, will be after its fourth straight win over the now potent Nebraskans.

Coach Bernie Masterson of Nebraska, who has his team in the running for the Big Six title with a record of two wins and one loss, will have to defeat Iowa State to keep in the chase.

Despite their record of two wins (Kansas State and Iowa State Teachers), four losses and one tie, the Iowa Staters are dangerous through the air and have folded against only one Big Six team—0-63 against Oklahoma.

Iowa State's hopes of an upset will be shouldered by their Ron Norman-to-Dean Laun passing combination. Norman leads the conference in yards gained passing with 29 completions on 70 tosses for 323 yards. Laun has caught 20 for 282 yards.

The Iowa State team total of 775 yards gained passing also is a high for the Big Six.

Nebraska, idle last week should have all its power Saturday. The Huskers have dropped hard fought battles to Minnesota, Iowa, Indiana and to Missouri. They whipped Kansas, 16-14, and Kansas State 31-0.

At Norman, Okla., the Oklahoma Sooners were cheered by a doctor's report that Halfback Joe Golding may be in condition to play against Missouri in the all-important Big Six clash there Saturday. Golding was hurt as the Sooners lost to Kansas, 13-16, last week.

Missouri Coach Don Faurot announced that either Bernie Pepper or Norval Piepmeier will replace the injured Bob Stone at right tackle. Missouri will leave for Norman by special train Friday night.

The Kansas State Wildcats continued to show unusually good spirit for their home game with Kansas coming up this week. Norman Rothrock, heavyweight fullback injured in the first game of the season, looked good in a passing drill yeesterday and is expected to play Saturday.

A Kansas State victory eliminate Kansas from the championship picture.

Missouri's 'B' Team Plays Drake Friday

MOBERLY, Mo., Nov. 14—(AP)—The University of Missouri "B" football team which has been going places this fall, will wind up its season here Friday night with a try for its tenth straight victory.

The Tiger Cubs, who have outscored their opponents 177 to 44, will take on the Drake university reserves, a squad which has lost four of its six games. The Drake record includes 20 to 7 and 19 to 6 victories over the Simpson college "B" team and a 0 to 69 defeat at the hands of the Iowa State reserves.

Football Par-Lay Reaches Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14—(AP)—Football fans here are being victimized by a flood of pool tickets in which bettors wager against staggering odds, police superintendent Howard Sutton reports.

Sutton said the bettors — mostly college and high school students — face nearly 3,500 to 1 odds on wagers that pay only 100 to 1 for the few winners.

Tickets require the bettor to pick from three to ten winners with points credited to the weaker team in uneven contests, Sutton said.

Organize Women's Volleyball Tonight

Women's volleyball season will get underway tonight at the Mark Twain school. All women in Sedalia 18 years old and over are encouraged to attend tonight's session and register for the season.

A short business meeting will be held at 7:45 o'clock prior to the playing.

Those who intend to play tonight are requested to take with them suitable shoes to be used on the gym floor.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—(AP)—This writer doesn't pretend to know what's what on the Army-Rose Bowl situation, but these facts can be established: Army likely would have said yes last year if the west coast folks had waited until after the Navy game. The weather and the Cadets' December examinations would make it very difficult for Army. . . . That's the same sort of thing that delayed the Big Nine-Pacific Coast negotiations. The midwesterners want limitations on pre-game practices so their champion won't be at a disadvantage. . . . On another angle, the Californians may want a final fling at a free selection before that five-year contract is signed because chances are that it will be strictly a big nine affair afterward. The deal calls for the eastern team's dough to be split up among the conference colleges and it is improbable that an outside team would take the game for a tenth share.

Branch Rickey hangs out in Ohio

Sports Before Your Eyes

Welterweight Johnny Greco, who was brought up in a large family figures he wasted a lot of his youth waiting for his turn to wash. So in building a new house, Johnny has installed five bathrooms and is seeking space for more. . . . Ace Parker gives baseball credit for his football comeback with the Yankees this fall. He says playing shortstop for the Portsmouth (Va.) Cubs last summer helped him regain his speed and timing.

End of The Line

An all-LSU crew, including the pilot, co-pilot, radioman and two stewardesses will man the plane taking Louisiana State's football team to Miami for tomorrow night's game. . . . Although local basketball experts are high on New York University, word from the midwest and south is that Adolph Hupp's Kentucky squad is the loaded-east of them all this year.

Today A Year Ago—The mighty Army football team remained the top eleven in the nation in the Associated Press' weekly poll.

Three Years Ago—Sid Luckman established a National Football League record when he threw seven touchdown passes as the Chicago Bears trounced the New York Giants, 56-7 at the Polo Grounds.

Five Years Ago—Gus Lesnevich retained his light heavy weight championship by outpointing Tami Mauriello in a 15 round bout at New York.

Ten Years Ago—Notre Dame swamped the army, 20-6 in their annual classic at Yankee Stadium, witnessed by a capacity crowd of 80,000 fans.

Army Gets a Nod to Accept Rose Bowl Bid

War Department Gives Official OK on Invitation

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 14—(AP)—Earl Blaik's Cadets went into the final stages of their preparation for Penn with added zest today after learning that the war department has given official clearance for Army's acceptance of a possible Rose Bowl invitation.

Should the Army get a bid to Pasadena, the final decision as to whether the Black Knights will make the trip will be made by Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, sports-minded superintendent of the academy.

The war department made the announcement after being beset by inquiries whether there was any chance the army might reverse its policy against post-season football games. If the bid is extended, "the way has been clared for a prompt 'yes or no decision' by the superintendent," Washington said.

Meanwhile, Pacific Coast conference officials maintained a close-lipped "No Comment" attitude although newspapermen on the coast clung to the belief that Rose Bowl overtures had been made to Army.

Chairman Willis O. Hunter of the bowl committee said he had not been in contact with members of his group since the Los Angeles football writers association urged Monday that the committee "explore the possibilities of inviting Army."

While the Rose Bowl rumors continued to flow into the Point, Coach Blaik pronounced his squad fit and ready to concentrate on the business at hand, the Franklin Field duel with the Quakers Saturday. The Cadets were scheduled for a light drill today and will entrain tomorrow.

Asked whether Army was going to play as conservative a game against Penn as against Notre Dame, Blaik answered with a smile, "I think not. Our problem is not so much to stop them as to go out and get some scores ourselves."

Concerning the possible Rose Bowl invitation, an officer spokesman at the Point explained that the formal procedure would be this:

Col. Lawrence (Biff) Jones, graduate manager of athletics, would refer the bid to the five-man academy athletic board, includes himself, Blaik and three other officers. The board then would make its recommendation for acceptance or rejection to Gen. Taylor, who would make the final decision.

The sloth world should have been electrified, but undoubtedly wasn't, by the big news that a two-toed sloth was recently born to a three-toed mother. In photo above, the mother, imported from Costa Rica by a Santa Monica, Calif., animal dealer, is giving John Rock a piece of her mind as he holds her up so baby can be photographed. Junior, unperturbed, can be seen in foreground, looking for the chow department.

410 Lose Lives In Earthquake

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 14.—(AP)—At least 410 persons were reported today to have lost their lives in a series of earthquakes which began in Peru last Sunday and have crippled communications and caused widespread devastation.

The ministry of the interior said that Conchucos, a town of 4,400 inhabitants, north of Lima, was apparently the hardest hit. Three hundred persons were killed and 250 injured there.

Sihuas, a town of 11,540, was reported completely destroyed. So far 40 bodies have been taken from the debris. Thirty fatalities were reported at Pomabama.

The quakes also were said to have devestated Mollebama, 3,400 population, and caused considerable damage in Mollepata, a town of about 2,800.

Since the first shock struck Sunday afternoon, 52 minor shocks have been felt, according to reports from the interior.

Hot Words in Committee

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Dr. Harlow Shapley, noted Harvard astronomer, accused Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.) of "Gestapo" tactics today after Rankin had threatened him with a contempt action.

Rankin summoned Shapley before him for a closed-door hearing of the house committee on un-American activities, of which Rankin is acting chairman.

No other committee members were present and Shapley later issued a statement declaring that Rankin:

"Forcibly seized" a prepared statement from him and tore it.

Refused to permit Shapley's attorney, Thomas H. Eliot, or his secretary, Miss Nelly Thomas, to remain in the room.

Eliot described the seizure of Shapley's statement as "technical assault."

Rankin told reporters he had "never seen a witness treat a committee with more contempt," declaring the witness had refused to answer questions or produce subpoenaed documents.

Eliot told reporters the Harvard professor was called on to produce records of four organizations, including the CIO-PAC and the National Citizens Political Action committee.

Declares Ford Lost Heavily This Year

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 14—(AP)—Ernest R. Breech, director and executive vice president of the Ford Motor Co., said today in a speech that the company lost $51,600,000 the first three quarters of this year before possible tax rebates.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Jefferson City Chamber of Commerce — his first public address since he joined the company last May — Breech declared that when "management told its employes last December that it would have to lose, after proposed wage increases, something like $65,000,000 in 1946, it wasn't fooling."

UN Works for World, But It's Not World of Its Own

For Disturbers of the Pace, UN Calls in the City Cops

Man in middle is Ashton B. Jones, an Atlanta, Ga., minister, who was arrested after staging a demonstration outside a New York hotel, where UN delegates were lunching. Even if it had happened at UN headquarters, this dissenter would have been turned over to civil authorities, for UN has no special sovereignty.

By S. Burton Heath
NEA Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. (NEA)—The United Nations is not a world of its own on U. S. soil.

Its personnel have no special rights or privileges other than the normal diplomatic immunity extended to ambassadors accredited to the UN.

That is the answer of the UN's legal staff to questions raised over the establishment of the new world capital in this country. And it is emphasized in a couple of minor traffic cases involving UN personnel, who fared no better or no worse in police courts than any other motorist.

One of these was a Russian chauffeur for the Russian delegation, who got an American-style ticket for speeding in Glen Cove, N. Y., where many of the Soviet personnel live on an estate. Glen Cove residents, who had been complaining about the Russian style of driving, expected a plea of diplomatic immunity. But the chauffeur diplomatically entered a plea of guilty and paid a $5 fine.

The other was the American driver for UN Secretary General Trygve Lie, who was handed a ticket for speeding on a parkway while taking Lie to a dinner. The driver's plea of diplomatic immunity was denied by a city judge in New Rochelle, so he changed it to not guilty.

Even Lie himself does not have the immunity enjoyed by top diplomatic figures. But a bill waiting for the new congress will, if adopted, extend to him and his top aides the same courtesies given ambassadors or ministers, simplifying their entry through immigration, eliminating customs inspections and generally exempting them from restrictions placed on ordinary people.

The lesser ranking members of UN's extensive population do not get any such break. They benefit from the provisions of a federal law adopted last December, which protects such personnel from legal processes while engaged in official duties. Aside from that, they are subject to the same civil and criminal laws as anyone else.

They do not have to pay income tax; the UN pays it for them, and is seeking to have UN salaries declared tax-exempt.

Nor does the UN possess any special sovereignty over the buildings it occupies and the high-fencer, well guarded grounds that surround them. When a visitor to the UN headquarters became unruly the other day, Security officers turned him over to New York City police for the same handling that was given the Atlanta, Ga., minister who staged a demonstration outside a New York hotel where UN delegates were lunching.

The UN can decide who shall be its guests, just as you can in your home or office or factory, and can keep out trespassers who would like to crash the buildings, walk on lawns, or deface the property. To enforce these rights, it does the same thing you would do; it calls in a policeman.

The status of the permanent home to be established later by the UN will be controlled by a convention proposed by the General Assembly and to be ratified by Congress.

This will formalize the rights, privileges, immunities and responsibilities of the organization as a property-owning guest of the United States, the states of New York and Connecticut (if the now-favored site is used) and the local communities concerned.

It will not set up an extra-territorial island. It will provide that federal, state and local laws shall apply. If a couple of hot heads were to go out back of the Assembly building and duel to the death at dawn, the winner would be turned over to New York (or Connecticut) police for trial in state courts under state laws, and for execution or imprisonment by the state if convicted.

Library Notes

To a library, November spells just one thing — Book Week. Children and many adults look forward all year to this very special time. Any day is a good time to go to the library for a good book, but during November 10-16 there will be more than books to see.

The slogan for this year used all over the country is "Books are Bridges." We are very fortunate in having an unusually interesting exhibit of hats and shoes from foreign countries loaned to the library by Mrs. Arthur Klang. These articles are gay and colorful and have a story behind them. Two of the hats, one from China and one from Turkey were obtained from the natives themselves. The shoes from the Philippines have carved in the heels a tiny wooden replica of the huts in which the people live. The library invites visitors to come and see the display.

The children during the entire month of November are working on a Library Book Tour. This project is in charge of the committee members who represent the grades of every school. The travellers are working in pairs and are striving not just to read books themselves but to interest their partner in a book they have enjoyed.

Meeting at 4 p. m.

The book club held at 4:30 on Friday evenings will feature this week a very favorite book enjoyed by both boys and girls all over the land. "Good Master" by Kate Seredy is a story of a Hungarian boy, Jansci, and his cousin Kate. Much to Jansci's surprise, Kate does not look like a princess, nor does she have long flowing robes. But as Jansci says, "She is almost as good as a boy," and their good times prove it. This seems an ideal selection for the most special time of the library year. Children from fourth grade up are invited to come and share the fun.

The two award books of the year are on display at the library. The Newbery and the Caldecott prizes are given each year for the best written and the best illustrated books for children. Lois Lenski has done a series of books about children of our United States and for "Strawberry Girl" she won the Newbery award. The Petershams, who have done a lot of fine illustrating for children, received the Caldecott award for "The Rooster Crows," a book of American jingles and rhymes. Both of these authors are old friends to our juvenile public. They will be pleased to see we have autographed copies of these two award books for our Children's Room.

Youth Tired of Being 'Ugly'

CHICAGO, Nov. 14—(AP)—David Ruge, 16, who pleaded guilty to sending a threating letter to his employer in an attempt to extort funds for plastic surgery on his face, won leniency in criminal court yesterday and sympathy from scores of persons throughout the country.

Judge Charles E. Byrne, before placing the youth on four years probation, said that he had received numerous letters offering to pay expenses for Ruge's operatin.

Jessie Binford, head of the Juvenile Protection Association, said her organization would cooperate and would take charge of a fund and contact physicians on what could be done for Ruge.

The youth had admitted sending a letter to Philip Weiss, a novelty company owner threatening to kill his son and daughter unless Weiss give him $1,000, which he said he needed for an operation on his face.

Ruge said he long had endured taunts of friends because of what they described as "ugliness."

Nobel Prize to Hermann Hesse

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Swedish Academy today awarded Hermann Hesse, of Switzerland, the Nobel literary prize for 1946.

Hesse, born in Germany, but a naturalized Swiss, is a novelist, poet and essayist. He has been only slightly known in the United States because only two of his books have been translated into English, "Steppenwolf" and "Death and the Lover." Most have been translated from the German into Scandinavian and Slavic languages and a few were reprinted in Japanese.

Hesse is 69. He was trained for the ministry, but soon turned to literature. His first novel, "Peter Camezind," was published in 1904, the year of his marriage. He has one son.

The suits were those of M. C. McCandless, Robt. McCandless, a minor, Donald McCandless, a minor, Clara McCandless and Perry McCandless.

The suits were filed following an automobile accident at the Cole Camp junction of Highways 65 and 52 on October 12. The plaintiffs' attorney is Frank W. Hayes.

Last Minute Recovery

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—(AP)—The stock market enjoyed another last-minute recovery push today under the leadership of selected motors, rails, steels and pivotal industrials.

As in the preceding session, the direction was downward most of the time but bidders became a bit more courageous at the tail-end of the proceedings. Dealings, slow the greater part of the day, developed some activity in the final half-hour comeback. Transfers ran around 1,000,000 shares.

Gainers of fractions to a point or more at the close included Chrysler, General Motors, Youngstown Sheet, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, International Harvester, Union Carbide and Phelps Dodge.

Eastman Kodak added 5 points and Dow Chemical 3 on meager sales. Favorable dividends or earnings lifted Schenley, Joy Mfg., International Paper and Wayne Knitting.

In the losing section were Goodyear, Union Pacific, General Electric, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft and Allied Chemical.

Bonds were narrow.

Upturn In Corn

CHICAGO, Nov. 14—(AP)—Purchases of corn by the Commodity Credit Corporation for export famine areas abroad, placed by trade interests at around a million bushels, spurred an upturn in yellow cereal futures today. Gains ranged to more than 2 cents.

Shipping sales of cash corn out of this market expanded to 253,000 bushels, well in excess of purchases on a to-arrive basis totaling 150,000 bushels. The CCC's purchases were applied against fourth quarter allocations, which amount to around 6,000,000 bushels.

Wheat had gains extending to around 3 cents at times. There were reports of heavy flour sales overnight to South American countries. Cash wheat was strong at Minneapolis, which trade sources believed indicated buying by the government.

Oats advanced with other grains.

Wheat finished 1¾ to 3⅜ cents higher, January $2.06⅞, corn was up 2⅛ to 3⅛, January $1.32¼ to $1.32⅜, and oats gained 1⅛ to 3⅜ cents, November 82c.

Extension Club Meeting

The Tri-Community Extension Club held its regular monthly meeting at the club house, with the president, Thelma Brunckhorst, presiding. Letters were read from boys in the service and letters were also written to them. It was decided to send the five boys in the service a Christmas box. Reports were given on the American Royal by Bill Kraft and Norvel Brunckhorst.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Thelma Brunckhorst; vice president, Eugene McMullen; secretary-treasurer, Florence Kraft; reporter, Rose Mary Klein; parliamentarian, Jack Fowler.

A shower was given for Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McMullin, who were recently married. The rest of the evening was spent in games. Refreshments of cider and doughnuts were served.

Money Taken From Belt

READING, Pa., Nov. 14—(AP)—Mrs. Josephina Balla, 55, told Detective George Aucher that $1,020 was taken from a money belt while she was wearing it.

She said she placed the money in the belt Friday and found it gone three days later. She had worn the belt continuously, she said.

Her only explanation: "I am a sound sleeper."

On the Scent of Customers

New-Mown Hay Woos Business
Sell by Smell Idea Puts Perfume
On Almost Anything You Buy Today

By MARC J. PARSONS
NEA Staff Correpsondent

NEW YORK— (NEA) —American housewives and their shopping husbands are being led around by their buying noses—and don't know it. Like that other luxury item, diamonds, perfumes are drifting subtly along a scented path into almost every phase of American life.

Big business has found that under the soothing influence of wild fern or new-mown hay, customers are much less reluctant to part with their dollars.

The idea is not entirely new. Before the war an inventor worked out a scheme to add realistic smells to talking pictures: it didn't catch on. A pre-war attempt was made to perfume the inks in certain newspaper advertisements to make them more attractive.

It took the war to open new vistas for the big perfume makers. In one industrial plant, where women worked at a machine cutting operation, the turnover of personnel became a major problem. Experts found that the women, consciously or unconsciously, objected to the smell of cutting oils. It was easier to change the smells of the oils than to keep finding more women to do the job. So the chemists made the oils smell sweet and there was no more trouble.

Today you are liable to find almost everything you buy scented to make it more appealing to you. In one test, a batch of hosiery was perfumed while a similar batch was left in its natural state. The women customers snapped up the perfumed stockings because the color was "more appealing" and the texture "better." None of them suspected it was the perfume they were buying.

Fragrant Elephants

Stenographers picked a perfumed carbon paper because it "smudged less." One Fifth Avenue store keeps its revolving doors perfumed to put the buying customers in the right moods from the moment they enter the place. A circus perfumes its elephants.

One enthusiast advocates perfuming entire manufacturing plants with mood-fragrance to increase efficiency. Some buildings are adding such odors as new-mown hay to air conditioning and air circulating systems, and the tired businessman on the 32nd floor doesn't realize that his day dreams of a boyhood on a farm are the direct result of a janitor turning an industrial atomizer on in the basement.

Perfumes are going into everything from waxes and polishes to rubber raincoats, plastics and women's handbags. (A handbag manufcturer found the smell of the open woods sold more bags than than the smell of flowers or even leather).

Not all of the perfuming is done to make things smell nice. Just about as much effort goes into taking offensive smells out of some products.

Paint manufacturers don't want paint to smell like a spring flower-bed. They'd rather have a plain "clean" odor. A fabric plant takes the "factory" odor out of its cloth and substitutes a "fresh" smell.

None of these firms is wafting around any of the $30 a drop (or thereabout) perfumes whose 'subtle" fragrance the ad-writers describe in such luring terms. The bases of some of these expensive perfumes cost $1000 a pound or more. Big industrial users prefer scents that cost as little as $5 a pound, can be diluted a couple of hundred times, and are just as satisfactory for their purposes.

From their stock of thousands of formulas, perfume chemists can duplicate just about any pleasant smell, and a few not so pleasant.

Lookout PTA Has Program

An interesting talk was given by Mrs. Arthur McMullin at the Lookout P. T. A. Friday night. The theme was "Our Children, Their Education and Social Life."

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. E. Shaw.

Mrs. Roy DeWitt led the devotional by reading a poem, "God of the Heart and Hand." The Lord's Prayer was then repeated in unison.

The secretary, Mrs. Roy Jeffries, gave a report on the pie social which was held at the school recently; $133.41 was cleared. The proceeds are for the hot lunches. Two new members were added to the organization, bringing the membership up to eighteen families.

Three guests were present.

The next meeting, December 13, will be spent making plans for the Christmas party.

Largest Number On Farms Since 1942

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—(AP)—The agriculture department reported Wednesday 10,809,000 persons were employed on the nations's farms on Nov. 1—largest number of the date since 1942.

Reflecting the normal decline in farm work at this season of the year the Nov. 1 employment, however, was nearly 750,000 less than a month ago.

Begins Distribution Of New Product

This week, Russell Peck, of the Peck Products company, 807-811 South Limit avenue, began distribution to all retailers within the Sedalia area of his new product—Peck's Pop Corn.

Distribution is being made in electrically heat-sealed bags and air-tight cans and will be sold only to retailers on the wholesale basis, Mr. Peck announced.

A new addition to his present building is to be added within the near future, and Mr. Peck hopes to extend his business throughout the state.

Hoary Hoaxes Still Nip Public

'Spanish Prisoner' Swindle is Going Strong Again, Fleecing New Victims

By NEA Service

CHICAGO (NEA)—William Arthur Nickel, the $100 a week cashier who faces charges of helping to lift $900,000 from the till of a New York manufacturing firm, is just small fish in the swindling business. The big difference between Nickels and thousands of others is that he got caught.

"Guesses on the annual swindle take run from $100,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 annually. No one can actually tell how much is lost to the slick money artists because most victims shut up as soon as they learn they have been fleeced.

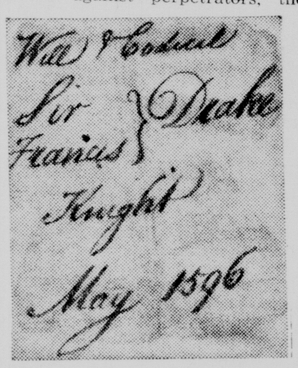

Nor do the swindlers always bother to think of slick new gags to relieve the gullible public of their spare cash. One of the oldest in history is making the rounds again, the National Better Business Bureau warns—the Spanish prisoner hoax, age 358 years.

Right after the wreck of the Spanish Armada, bogus "Dons" began trading half their mythical Spanish castles for a little ready English cash. Today the locale has switched to Mexico.

In the modern version, a Mexican "banker" offers $100,000 of the $285,000 he says he has cached in a checked trunk. All he needs is $6,200 or thereabout of the sucker's money to get out of jail and recover the check that will release the trunk. What he really does is release the $6,200 from the sucker.

"Customer-in-Distress"

Despite the fact that the post-office has issued scores of fraud orders against perpetrators, the swindle is still catching romantic fish.

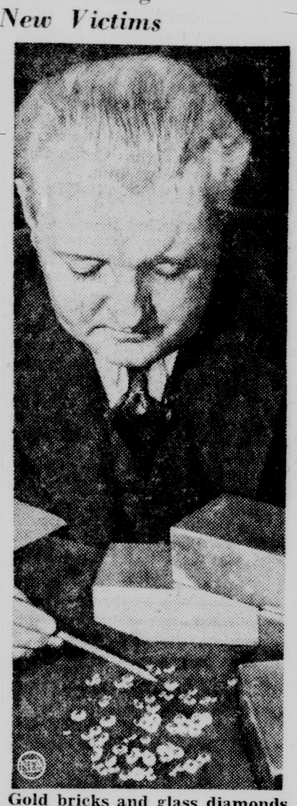

Thousands of eager victims fell for this signature on the "will" of Sir Francis Drake in belief they were heirs to the 16th century English naval hero's mythical fortune. Promoters of this scheme netted $1,300,000 before they were put out of business.

Business men, trying to pick up a legitimate dollar of their own, are getting hooked on the "customer-in-distress swindle, the Better Business Bureau reports.

In this racket, the swindler will telephone from a city like New York to a Chicago firm identifying himself as one of the firm's big customers from Wyoming. He is, he says, vacationing in New York with his family and someone just lifted his wallet, leaving him penniless. He is about to take a plane home and doesn't know what to do. Can his Chicago friend identify him to someone in New York who can advance a hundred or so in cash?

The Chicago businessman knows the Wyoming firm is a good customer. He calls someone in New York, arranges for delivery of the needed cash to the customer-in-distress, and that's the last either of them see of the "customer."

The alleged will of Sir Francis Drake and a chance to share in his vast but mythical estate cost U. S. victims $1,300,000 just a decade ago.

Gold bricks and glass diamonds, here being examined by a Federal Referee, may not fool you. But they still fool hundreds of gullible people every year who think they're being let in on easy money.

And the gullible are still looking for a cut in the "Baker Estate" in Philadelphia. Baker, a surgeon in George Washington's army, supposedly was given 5,000 acres of prime Philadelphia real estate by his grateful commander-in-chief, and the swindlers claim Baker's estate (which would include the U. S. mint, city hall, Independence Hall, and nearly every other Philadelphia landmark) is now worth $800,000,000 to the heirs.

Shares in this non-existent estate bring any price the victim can be talked into paying. But the only property Baker ever owned was about $6,000 worth in a Philadelphia suburb.

Rank as these frauds are, they represent only a fraction of the take by swindlers. More costly are the thousands of little frauds which range from gold bricks and glass diamonds to fake medical cures, inferior merchandise, questionable charities, and the like.

The prospective victim has a defense against them all, and it usually is right in his home town. Local bankers, better business bureaus and chamber of commerce offices are a good source of reliable, confidential information.

But get-rich-schemes only mean get-rich-quick for the promoter.

All rubies and sapphires, genuine and synthetic, are composed of aluminum oxide.

Quarrel Over Itinerant Dog

ALBANY, Calif., Nov. 14—(AP)—Whiskers, an itinerant dog of uncertain lineage, found a home—after a fuss and an auction.

The scraggly but lovable mutt wandered into an Albany neighborhood several weeks ago and started a row between the James Gamos and the James Crean families. Both wanted him.

The Creans wouldn't give up the dog.

Mrs. Gamos called Humane Officer Walter Asher, who took the pooch into custody and announced it would be sold at public auction.

Today Whiskers was placed on the block before 15 prospective owners and a throng of curious spectators. An unidentified woman bid $5. Helen Crean, representing Mrs. Crean, bid $6. Mrs. Gamos bid $7. With those two making alternate bids, the price mounted to $33.

"Oh, well," sighed Mrs. Crean, "if she wants him that badly she can have him.

"Going, going," called the auctioneer—"gone."

Mrs. Gamos burst into sobs of joy.

Copies of the huge scarf pictured here, large enough to be used as a shawl, will be presented to the chief women delegates and to the wives of the first delegates of each of the 51 United Nations. Of pure white silk, it bears the national seal, in color, of each member country. The UN scarf was created by Brooke Cadwallader, noted silk designer, at the request of the American Association for the United Nations.

Police Clerk Was Troubled

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 14—(AP)—The case of missing panties—315 pairs of them — prompted veteran police clerk Earl Cunningham to cry for help.

After the arrest of a man with 315 pairs of women's panties stolen from clothes lines throughout the city, the ladies began telephoning Cunningham, clerk of the police stolen goods department, to see if their property was among that recovered.

"I absolutely draw the line on describing women's underwear over the telephone," Cunningham told Police Chief L. J. Tibert.

"In the first place I don't know a briefy from any other kind of lingerie. What the dickens do I know about knit rayon with run-resistant cuff? And how should I know what color is 'tea rose'?"

The chief called in Miss Jean McInnis, pretty police report clerk, to come to Cunningham's rescue.

Hot, crisp-crusted biscuits are popular cold weather foods, but a bit of variation now and then is needed to hold appetite interest. To a good biscuit recipe, add ½ teaspoon curry powder, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard and ½ cup grated cheese. Then proceed as for plain biscuits. These savory tidbits are delicious plain, or when used as a shortcake base for creamed vegetables.

THE GREATEST BAKING POWDER IMPROVEMENT IN 50 YEARS!

Improved WITH... FOOD CALCIUM

Betters Bakings 3 Ways!

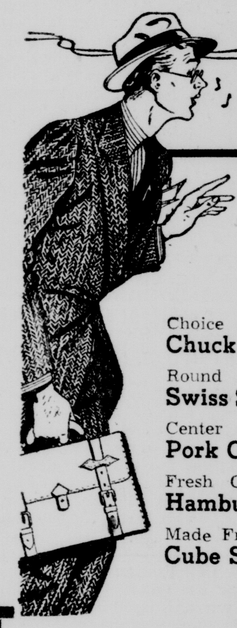

1. BAKINGS LOOK BETTER ... THE FOOD CALCIUM in the new KC permits more even distribution of the fine, active ingredients throughout the baking powder. This promotes more uniform action—gives bakings the light, smooth texture and inviting rich appearance everyone enjoys.

2. BETTER TASTE ... New KC assures full flavor of other ingredients—in your baked goods you get no soda taste from KC.

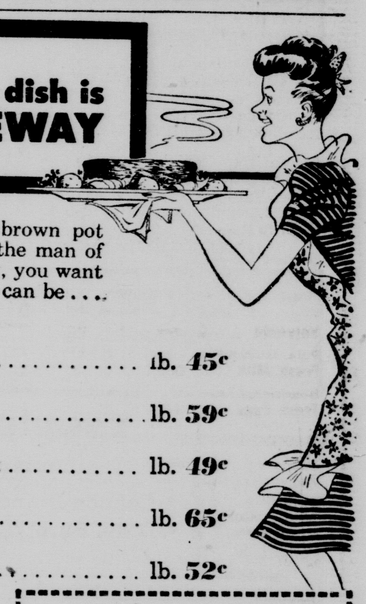

3. BETTER FOR YOU, TOO ... KC makes everything you bake with it a valuable source of FOOD CALCIUM—adding 2 to 5 times more FOOD CALCIUM than the fresh milk used in a baking, depending on the recipe. Thus KC joins milk as a fine source of this vital food element.

Recipes for cooking tasty pot roasts

SPICY OLD FASHIONED POT ROAST—Try this recipe not only with beef, but with veal or pork.

Sprinkle a 3-pound beef rump or chuck pot roast with ¼ teaspoon ground cloves, salt and pepper. Dredge in flour. Brown in melted drippings in a heavy kettle with tight-fitting cover. Tie 1 teaspoon mixed pickling spices in cheesecloth and drop into the kettle. Pour 1 cup cooked or canned tomatoes and ½ cup water over roast. Cover and simmer slowly until meat is tender 2½ to 3 hours. If necessary, add extra water as meat cooks. Remove pickling spices. Serve meat with the spicy sauce as gravy. Serves 6 to 8.

CRANBERRY PORK POT ROAST — Baked sweet potatoes go well with this pot roast, and the tartness of the cranberry sauce points up the mild-flavored pork.

Dredge a 3-pound pork shoulder roast in flour; brown well in drippings in a large heavy kettle with a tight-fitting cover. Melt 2 cups cranberry sauce in a saucepan with 1 cup of water; sieve; pour over pot roast. Cover and cook slowly about 2 hours, or until meat is tender, adding more water if needed. Serves 6 to 8.

Pumpkin Pie

½ recipe pastry.

Pumpkin Filling

1 cup cooked pumpkin, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon mace, ½ teaspoon cloves, ¼ teaspoon ginger, 3eggs, 1 cup milk.

Mix together pumpkin, sugar, cinnamon, mace, cloves and ginger. Beat eggs and add milk. Add to pumpkin mixture and mix well. Pour into unbaked pastry shell. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 10 minutes. Reduce temperature to moderate (350 degrees F.) and bake 30 minutes longer. Yield: 1 9-inch pie.

The delicate flavor of creamed oysters teams well with crunchy biscuits. If desired, grated cheese may be added to the dry ingredients for the biscuits. Cut the rolled biscuit dough with a doughnut cutter to make the biscuit rings. While the biscuits are baking, lightly fry the oysters and fold them into a medium white sauce.

Election Was Unkind To Congress' Ladies

Rep. Douglas — Rep. Rogers

Rep. St. George — Rep. Smith

Rep. Bolton — Rep. Norton

The last congress had 11 women representatives, but the new one will have seven. Six quick winners, pictured above are, top to bottom: Helen Gahagan Douglas, (D) Calif.; Edith Nourse Rogers, (R) Mass.; Mrs. George B. St. George, (R) New York; Margaret Chase Smith, (R) Maine; Frances Bolton, (R) Ohio; and Mary T. Norton, (D) N. J. Mrs. Georgia Lusk, (D) N. M., also finally won out after a tough battle.

Points On Perfect Pie Crusts

It is often said that pie is America's favorite dessert, and apple pie gets a strong vote from the men. Now with Thanksgiving just a frosty breath away, the spicy aroma of pumpkin and mince pies gives the homey apple favorite a lively contest for first place in family favor.

Since apple and mince pies seem at their peak of perfection when a flaky top crust puts a lid on their juiciness, the return of enriched white flour in ample amounts for holiday baking seems like one more Thanksgiving blessing.

Whether the choice in pies be apple or pumpkin or mince for the holidays, the final test of a pie's excellence is in the crust. Alert cooks watch to see if it is eaten down to the last delicious crumb, or is left as a dim reproach.

To get a vote of superior—assuming that a good recipe is used and the oven temperature is accurate—a pie crust first should be tender enough to cut easily with a fork. Whether it is to be flaky or crumbly depends upon the cook's choice of ingredients and mixing methods. But toughness in pie crusts may result from too much water, too much flour, or too much handling. It is easy to see how too much water makes a sticky dough that requires more flour, and possibly kneading. Water should be added sparingly and sprinkled lightly over the flour-shortening mixture. Enough water has been added if the ingredients just hold together when pressed with the fingers. Two much flour on the board when rolling helps to make a crust tough. The dough should be tossed on a lightly floured board or pastry cloth and rolled lightly from the center. Lifting the dough a few times while rolling helps to prevent sticking.

An excellent rating also goes to the crust that is evenly browned. It is usually slightly darker around the edges than in the middle. Uneven browning might mean uneven thickness in the crust. In rolling, the cook should avoid letting the pin roll off the edges of the dough, as this practice may result in thinner edges than the rest of the dough. Again, lifting the crust while rolling makes it possible to get even thickness.

The lower crust may usually be kept crisp and tender if a few simple suggestions are observed. In juicy fruit pies, such as apple, mix the flour or other thickening agent with the sugar and then mix well with the fruit, or sprinkle the flour-sugar mixture over the bottom crust and over the top of the fruit. Put juicy fruit or custard fillings in the pastry-lined pan just before the pie is to be baked. Bake juicy fruit or custard pies at a high temperature for the first 10 or 15 minutes in order to help set the crust before soaking can take place.

To have the baked pie fill the pan nicely, without a shrunken appearance, fit the rolled dough loosely and without stretching into the pie pan. With a little ball of left-over dough, press air bubbles out between dough and pan, and then prick with a fork to prevent blisters if the crust is to be baked alone. Chilling the dough before rolling helps it to retain its shape while baking, but in the case of pumpkin or other custard pies, the pastry-lined pan may be chilled before adding the filling.

Mincemeat or Apple Pie

Pastry:

2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅔ cup shortening, 3 to 5 tablespoons cold water. Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening. Add water. Mix into a dry, crumbly dough. Toss on lightly floured pastry cloth. Roll and fold until smooth. Roll about ⅛ inch thick. Line pie pan with pastry. Fill with mincemeat or apple filling. Moisten edges of pastry. Cover with top pastry and trim edges, allowing ½ inch to turn under for sealing. Flute edges with thumb and forefinger or press together with tines of fork. Prick or slit top of pastry. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 10 to 15 minutes. Reduce temperature to moderate (350 degrees F.) and bake 30 minutes longer.

Yield: 1 9-inch pie.

Mincemeat Filling

2 to 3 cups cooked or canned mincemeat.

Apple Filling

1½ quarts sliced apples, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons enriched flour, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon margarine or butter.

Combine sugar, flour and cinnamon. Sprinkle ¼ cup of mixture over pie dough in pan. Arrange apples evenly. Sprinkle with remaining sugar-flour mixture. Dot with margarine or butter and cover with top pastry.

Matches, with few exceptions, are the same today as they were 100 years ago.

In order to save the scant sugar supply for holiday cookery, use molasses as sweetener in pre-holiday desserts. Molasses refrigerator puddings may be made by cutting a molasses rolled cookie dough in 3-inch rounds, baking and spreading the cooled cookies with creamed cheese. Stack four or five cookies together for each individual serving, and place in the refrigerator for 2 hours. Top with sliced or chopped candied or maraschino cherries.

TRELOW: MRS. ALVA—IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear mother, who passed away one year ago, November 8th, 1945.

Excess Secretion Produces Upset Stomach
By William A. O'Brien, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

One person of every 20 manufactures an excess of stomach secretion. This condition is erroneously confused with "acid stomach."

"Acid stomach" does not exist. The stomach may manufacture excess secretion, but it cannot produce too much acid.

The lining membrane of the stomach consists of cells which manufacture acid, pepsin, rennin and mucus. The secretions are under control of the nerves and of stimulants which come to the stomach from other organs.

The glands which produce the secretions are concentrated in various portions of the stomach.

Flow Precedes Digestion

After the stomach has finished its job of digesting the food from the previous meal, only a small amount of secretion is manufactured.

The first effect of food on the stomach comes from the sight, smell and taste of the food, or even from the anticipation of the meal.

Workers returning to their homes at the end of the day begin to make gastric juice, rich in acid, as they smell the good things being cooked in the kitchen. The presence of food in the stomach also causes a flow of gastric juice.

After the food has been in the stomach for a certain time, the opening between the stomach and intestines relaxes in order to let the partially digested food go through. In persons who manufacture an excess of stomach secretion, the stomach lining may be injured in the region of the opening because of the greater concentration of acid present, and ulcers may result.

Pain, nausea, vomiting, and heartburn result from upsets in the muscles of the stomach.

Rhythmic waves pass over the stomach and keep the food moving along. Blocks at the opening between the stomach and intestines cause these contractions to increase in depth and to produce cramp-like pains. (Hunger pains are caused by contractions of an empty stomach.)

Vomiting Reverses Process

In vomiting the muscular contractions are reversed, while in heartburn the loose, fairly wide connection between the stomach and esophagus permits the gastric secretion to be brought up into the throat.

The stomach is constantly influenced by emotions, nerves, foods and body needs.

Unstable individuals tend to have upset stomachs at the slightest provocation. Unfortunately, they mistake these symptoms for stomach disease and attempt to treat the symptoms with stomach medicine. When the victims acquire emotional control, their symptoms disappear.

The symptoms may be due to excess secretion, muscular difficulties, or both.

QUESTION: I am only 5 feet, 3 inches tall. I wish to enlist in the service, but the height requirement is 5 feet, 4 inches. I am 18 years old. How can I increase my height?

ANSWER: It is not possible for you to increase your height in a short period of time. You have three more years in which to complete your growth. If you have laid a good foundation in childhood, if your diet is well balanced, and if you come from people who are taller than you are now, your height may gradually increase.

GAYLE was disturbed. The campaign glorifying Bart was lasting too long. There was a purpose behind it, something subtler than she had realized. Then a letter came from Nate Kent, and she thought she had at last found the reason. Nate was in a California hospital with a shattered leg.

"I'm afraid I'm out of it for good," he wrote, "but I may hang on to my leg; so I'm not complaining. I don't feel sick, and I have all the time in the world on my hands. I've been planning this letter to you for weeks; now I'm going to write it.

"It gave me the shock of my life to get back here and discover that Bart had been made into a great hero. I've seen some of the stories they've published about him, and I tell you, they've made my blood boil. I guess there's nothing I can do about it; but I can tell you the truth, anyway, and I'm going to.

"Two fellows who were in the fight were with me on the boat coming home, and I got the whole story from them. They don't think Bruce Bartlett's a hero; I can tell you that.

"I think I wrote you once he wasn't a good soldier. He wasn't. He ought to have been in command of a bomber, a man his age and with his experience; but he wasn't considered fit to command. They wouldn't trust the lives of other men to him, but they had to hang on to a crack flyer in times like these; so he was given a fighter to fly where he couldn't endanger anybody's life but his own.

"Here's what the fellows told me actually happened. A big flight of Jap bombers came over escorted by Zeros. No, I've got to tell you about the bawling out first. Bart was in wrong with pretty nearly everybody by then, and he was acting sullen as the devil. Then about half an hour before the Japs showed up, his commanding officer laid him out. The fellows said he threatened to bust Bart and send him home. Anyhow, Bart went into one of his rages. He'd been in the Army long enough to know he didn't dare say a word to the C. O., but the fellows said he raved to them. They told him to shut up.

"THEN the Japs came. I'm not telling any military secret when I explain the strategy. Everybody knows what you have to do in situations like that. We were badly outnumbered. We didn't have half the fighters the Japs had, but we had one advantage: we could outlast them. They had come hundreds of miles, and if the bombers couldn't get in fast to do their work, the fighters would give out of gas—and the bombers couldn't come in at all if the fighters weren't there to protect them. Those Jap bombers are just sitting ducks if they aren't protected by fighters; so our boys went up with orders to climb clear to the ceiling and stay there. They were on top of the Japs then, and if the Zeros couldn't get them to come down and fight, the bombers had made their trip for nothing.

"Well, the Zeros did everything but thumb their noses at our boys to get them into a scrap, but everybody obeyed orders except that great hero Bruce Bartlett. Maybe he was going to show the C. O. what he could do. I don't know, but my guess is he was just mad. Anyway, he kept coming down and taking cracks at the Japs. They made it easy for him. They were willing to lose the Zeros if they could give the bombers a chance. And Bart was a marvel in a plane. Even the fellows admitted that. He got six all right, but when three of them ganged up on him, another chap couldn't stand it. He came down to help him out. They got him—and they got Bart. You haven't heard anything about that lad. He wasn't a hero. And two of the bombers got in. Three men were killed on the ground, and I don't know how many wounded. You haven't heard about them either. . . ."

Gayle sat still for a long time when she had finished the letter. So that's why Octavia Bartlett and Joel Dwight were running their campaign. . . . Probably they knew the true story, too. They couldn't protect Bart in the South Pacific, but they could protect him at home. They could make him such a glorious hero that no one would believe the true story if the Army ever let it slip by its censorship.

* * *

ONE day when Gayle came home from work, Mrs. Mays told her a photographer had been there. "Kent and I came home from doing our shopping," she said, "and there this man was with a big camera on a tripod taking pictures."

"What of?" Gayle asked.

"The house. I asked him what he wanted them for, and he said he didn't know. His boss had sent him out to get half a dozen pictures of the house, but he didn't know what for. He said he guessed they were for the finance company."

"Whatever for?"

"I asked him, and he said they always had pictures of houses they held mortgages on. I don't think he really knew."

"Probably not," Gayle agreed and forgot the incident. It didn't seem to mean anything. But it came back to her mind two days later when she was leaving the plant. She saw two men looking at her and whispering to each other. Somehow, she felt sure they were reporters.

But for two full weeks nothing happened to her directly, though stories about Bart began to appear once more in the newspapers. One hinted that he was to receive posthumously the Distinguished Service Cross, and it was hinted further that the award would be made to Lieutenant Bartlett's small son. "Not if I know it," Gayle told herself. "Never!"

Chinese Burn Temple Abbot, Taoist Laymen

PEIPING, Nov. 14—(AP)—Chinese police reported Tuesday that 36 priests in famous Taoist Temple Paiyunkuan (White Cloud) revolted yesterday and burned to death the temple's abbot, An Shih-Lin, and its Taoist layman, Pai Chin-Yi, on a huge bonfire.

The police related this story:

The priests accused the two men of violating Taoist regulations. They smashed into the men's living quarters and dragged them out to the temple gate.

The priests beat the two men with clubs, trussed them with ropes, flung them on a pile of firewood, doused them with gasoline and fired the bier.

Police found the totally charred bodies more than an hour later.

Twenty-seven of the priests surrendered and the other nine were turned over to the police.

Police said the priests related this story today:

The priests cremated the Abbot and layman because of a decade old dispute over temple property.

To Perish Together

Some told the police upon surrendering, "We have chosen to perish together." None attempted to elude arrest.

The dispute predated Japanese occupation of Peiping. After the allied victory, the priests sued several times to dispossess the abbot and layman, but lost each suit.

Monday, the 36 priests gathered and signed a document announcing 10 "crimes" they said the pair committed. They posted the document at the temple gate. The charges included "unlawful selling of temple property, including sacred books and sacrificial live stock, and illegal relations with women."

White Cloud temple, just outside Peiping's west wall, is one of the most magnificent in this city, which possesses more temples than any other in China.

A large intercity bus company plans to trim all its vehicles with a combination plastic-glass film enabling the buses to glow in the dark from the headlights of other vehicles.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

One World--One Government? Youth Gets Federation Fever

At garage headquarters of Students for Federal World Government in Evanston, Ill., Dana Olsen and David McCoy (foreground) discuss plans for a world youth peace conference. At telephone is Natalie Saltiel. All three are Northwestern University students.

By Marc J. Parsons
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—Against a background of United Nations debate over the controversial veto power and the discord among major powers which has arisen in the first year of peace, half a dozen organizations are working feverishly on plans for new and stronger world government.

How far they will get depends in a large measure upon the success of the infant United Nations in dealing with the world's ills, but public opinion polls indicate that today a vast majority of U. S. citizens feel some means must be found to provide a stronger world government is peace is to be maintained.

Already a dozen of more state legislatures have passed resolutions which in varying degrees recommend that U. S. take the lead in creating a world federal government. The Protestant Episcopal church has approved the idea of federal democracy on a worldwide scale. Several veteran groups and state labor organizations have given the idea backing.

Some of the organizations are finding their greatest strength in the traditionally isolationist middle west. In Chicago, the Students for Federal World government, an organization which began several months ago on the campus at Northwestern University in Evanston is preparing for a world youth peace conference scheduled for later this month.

Unlike mostof the other groups working for an international federation of national governments, the Students for Federal World Government believe that individual effort is worth more than dollar support. Its members are asked not for financial contributions, but for one hour's work each week in behalf of the cause. The group is training teams of contact men who hope to visit all colleges and universities in the country this year taking up the idea.

Toy Guns Burned

Some of these men, many of them combat veterans, feel so strongly about the matter that they are throwing up their college careers to devote full time to the organization. Their enthusiasm is spreading. A young war widow, mother of two children, donated $1,000 of her precious insurance hoard to help promote a rally at Soldier Field, Chicago. A group of grade school children, catching the fever, burned their toy guns.

Another such organization, the Student Federation, claiming 3,500 members in some 80 colleges and universities, is seeking "world government in our time." The Student Federalists' program follows the general line of the World Federalists USA which was formed from six smaller groups who want a federal world government with power to enforce its laws upon individuals everywhere. The World Federalists USA believe such a world government should have its own congress ,police and courts, an end which they believe can be achieved either by amending the present UN charter or calling a world constitutional convention.

Ely Culbertson, bridge expert turned internationalist, has long been one of the leading proponents of a world union and was actively identified with World Federation, Inc., and Fight for Total Peace, Inc., movements which have been absorbed by Citizens Committee for United Nations Reform, a grass root movement originating in the middle west. Culbertson is acting chairman of the new organization. In the main, its ideas follow his earlier "Quota Force Plan," which would establish an independent UN military force, abolish the UN veto, outlaw the atomic bomb, limit national armaments by quotas and by inspections.

Russia Uninterested

Another amalgamation of several groups is the Americans United for World Government. Its component parts had worked for adoption of the UN charter in preatomic days and with the bombing of Hiroshima decided some stronger world government was needed. They now want to amend the UN charter with this in mind.

One of the oldest in the field is Federal Union, the baby of Clarence Streit, who once advocated union with Britain and now has widened his field to include all democratic countries.

So far the various plans have attracted the attention and support of such men as former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts, Robert Hutchins, Chancellor of the University of Chicago; Robert L. Lund, one-time president of the National Association of Manufacturers; CIO President Phillip Murray, Socialist Norman Thomas, and others.

The Communists are for the most part avoiding them like poison because their international character is contrary to the party's present strong nationalist line. Ilya Ehrenburg, Soviet newspaper man who toured U. S. this year, heard the proposals and described them as "fantastic schemes of "provincial Utopians" in a report written on his return to Russia.

Russia's lack of interest doesn't particularly bother the planners, many of whom recommend going ahead with or without Russia's support.

Dog Stays in Silent Shop

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 14—(AP)—Whoever buys the shoe shop of the late Christ Hauser will get a business partner in the deal, if he wants him.

Hauser died last week but his helper, Fritz, still remains in the now silent shop where both had worked and lived. Fritz is a white fox terrier.

If the telephone rang and Hauser didn't hear, the dog would come to him and bark. Fritz' bark also would signal the arrival of customers. Hauser called the dog his 'public relations man."

C. J. Hauser, son of the late owner, said he didn't want to sell out Fritz in settling the estate. "Fritz would make a fine employe for a new owner. I hope it will work out that way," he said.

If Stomach Gas or Sour Food Taste Robs You of Sleep

Here's How You May Help, Whether You Eat 500 Pounds or 2000 Pounds of Food In a Year

You can't feel cheerful, be happy and sleep well, if your stomach is always upset. As age advances the "old stomach" needs more help. The reason is this:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains very special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

'No Turning Back in Fight' Declares a Member of Cabinet

leaders of the railway workers, the CIO chief declared the federal court injunction against John L. Lewis and the "vengeful fine" of $3,510,000 upon the mine workers is the first step in a campaign of "hysteria" against labor.

CIO To Lewis Support

Murray said yesterday the CIO would join Lewis' AFL mine workers in appealing the contempt fines, levid against them for ignoring a federal court order to end the strike.

In his letter released today, Murray wrote:

"The stage is set for the 80th congress to be met by national hysteria deliberately fomented and inspired.

'It is my sincere conviction that we, the leaders of our respective organizations, must in the interest of our nation and our democratic institutions arise above any petty or personal quarrels to assure the successful completion of such a (labor unity) program."

In addition to Green, the letter went to President A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Chairman T. C. Cashen of the railway labor executive's association.

Exerting Pressure

In a series of denunciatory statements, union leaders of all camps turned pressure on the Truman administration to back away from pressing the legal action which has brought fines of $3,500,000 on the United Mine Workers and $10,000 on John L. Lewis, the miners' adamant chieftain.

Old enemities were put aside in the common cause of supporting Lewis' stand that U. S. district Judge T. Alan Goldsborough had no lawful right to order the miners work stoppage ended. It was Lewis' disregard for the order which brought him the fine for contempt.

CIO President Philip Murray, brushing off a long-time bitter feud with Lewis, announced he would join the UMW in appealing Goldsborough's rulings to the supreme court.

AFL President William Green called the government's course "applying the rule of the jungle."

Railway labor executives, by way of their association, already had spoken out similarly.

Top officials of the CIO United Automobile Workers — biggest union of them all — declared flatly:

"The organized labor movement will not tolerate this attempt to turn back the clock of progress in labor relations."

If this verbal assault was making any impression on President Truman and those helping him map strategy, there was no sign of it anywhere.

Fuel Saving Moves

On the contrary, a new series of fuel-saving restrictions was in preparation as though the administration was digging in for a long seige, if need be.

Lewis risked jail and further fines by continuing to ignore the court's temporary injunction requiring a halt in the strife.

Technically the government could move at any time to bring a new contempt action. And officials have made known that preparations are going forward for possible prosecution under the Smith-Connally act which makes it a crime to encourage or incite a strike in a government-held plant.

But there was every indication that the government would make no fresh major move until after President Truman's Sunday night nationwide radio broadcast — and the reaction to it.

That pointed to Monday as the next critical day with court action, meantime, limited to such actions as the UMW putting up bond and carrying out the technical end of appealing from Judge Goldsborough's rulings.

To Take Up More Pay to Teacher

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 6—(AP)—The legislative committee of the Missouri State Teachers Association will meet in Columbia on December 14 to consider a proposal to seek a $15,000,000 appropriation which would be used to increase teachers' salaries.

Philip J. Hickey, chairman of the committee, said the amount, if approved by the general assembly, would give teachers a $300 annual pay increase for a two-year period.

He said about 40 per cent of the state's 24,000 teachers now receive less than $1,200 a year.

The committee will also consider a plan for a long-range program to raise the minimum pay for beginning teachers to $2,400, Hickey said.

Republicans Look Ahead For Rooms

City With The Most Hotel Rooms About Assured Convention

By D. Harold Oliver

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—Republicans, thinking of the hotel shortage set out today a year ahead of usual looking for a site for their 1948 presidential nominating convention.

Informal talk mentioned Chicago, Cleveland and Kansas City as possible midwest locations; San Francisco on the west coast and Atlantic City, N. J., on the eastern seaboard.

Some thought also was given to an early convention—perhaps in March or April, instead of the customary June date. This would permit a longer campaign and a start before the hot months of July and August set in. Party members pointed out these two months usually are wasted after a convention, with the campaign not getting under way in earnest until September.

The only drawback to an earlier date, members said, is that all states may not have selected their delegates in time. State laws may have to be changed to set earlier dates for primaries.

Atlantic City is considered a good bet if an early convention is held. It is figured there may be ample hotel accommodations there in March or April before the summer vacation hordes arrive.

However, the talk today was all tentative. A national committee subcommittee of seven met for the first time after its creation yesterday and gave each member the job of seeking out a good spot. All regions are represented on the subcommittee.

With most big city hotels booked up through 1948 for convention purposes, members said they probably will have to raise their own money for the 1948 conclave instead of getting the usual $100,000 to $200,000 bids for local merchants to bring the meeting to their towns.

There is a possibility, it was said, that the convention may have to be curtailed, leaving no room for the thousands of "rooters" and noise-makers, genuine and hired. As in 1944, the GOP may get together with the Democrats and use the same hall and trimmings to save expenses.

While the site committee met, Republican state finance chairmen ordered a survey of the Hatch act and state laws governing campaign contributions and expenditures.

The inquiry was proposed by James S. Kemper, national committee treasurer, who said no two lawyers agree on what the Hatch act means. He said under the provision limiting receipts and expenditures by a national political committee in any one year to $3,000,000 it was doubtful whether the GOP national committee could donate any of its funds to the party's senatorial or congressional campaign committees or whether each had to collect all its own money.

This limitation, and another restricting individual donations to $5,000, have served no useful purpose, Kemper said. He added that the $5,000 limit means donors in most instances give only $3,000 since they are required to pay a gift tax on all over $3,000.

Jail Term for Son Of Alvin C. York

COOKEVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Alvin C. York, Jr., son of the World War I hero, pleaded guilty in federal court today to a charge of transporting non-tax paid whisky and was sentenced to 60 days in jail by U. S. District Judge Elmer D. Davies.

York, whose address was listed as Wolf Creek, Tenn., was arrested October 1 and charged with the offense.

Thursday Warmest December 6 in 28 Years

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Another winter "heat wave" hit this area yesterday. A temperature of 67 was recorded, making it the warmest December 5 in 28 years and the second warmest in weather bureau history.

On November 30, the mercury reached 70, to establish an all-time record for that date.

Fuel Saving Plan in Effect

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The government's effort to save coal—by putting a limit on parcel post and freight—went into effect today. On Sunday, a new cut in railroad passenger service is effective.

Government officials figure the coal thus saved in running locomotives, will keep the trains running until the middle of February—if the coal strike lasts that long.

They estimate that the coal burning locomotives use up about 25 per cent of the coal produced in this country.

Here's an explanation of what the rules are in the three steps taken: Passenger travel, parcel post, and freight.

Passenger Travel

This affects only those trains pulled by coal burning locomotives. It does not affect those whose engines use electricity or oil.

But passenger service on the trains with coal burning engines is cut 50 per cent.

Parcel Post

The new limits on parcel post packages—with some exceptions—affect those to be delivered in this country and abroad.

There is a complete ban on all parcel post shipments out of this country except to members of the U. S. armed forces overseas.

(Such shipments to overseas armed forces are limited to 70 pounds in weight and 100 inches in length and girth. This means: (The total distance around the package—lengthwise and crosswise—is not to be more than 100 inches.)

Parcel post packages mailed in this country now are limited to no more than 5 pounds in weight, 18 inches in length and 60 inches in length and girth.

This means: A package may be 18 inches long, but it cannot be more than a total of 60 inches lengthwise and crosswise.

Here are exceptions to the new limits on parcel post mailed for delivery in this country:

1. Live day-old chicks.
2. Seeds, plants, cut flowers and other nursery stock.
3. Eggs, butter and other perishable food products.
4. Serums, medicines, drugs.
5. Local parcels. This means: Parcels mailed within a city or local rural route where they are to be delivered.
6. Shipments of money.

Freight

There's a wide limit—with some exceptions—on freight shipments by rail. This is expected to cut freight shipments 50 per cent.

A person wishing to ship freight—unless he gets a special permit—cannot ship it except for such things as these:

Livestock, poultry, food, animal and poultry feed, medical and surgical supplies, fuel, newsprint, printing paper and ink, chemicals for water supply or sewage disposal, diapers, soap, caskets, funeral supplies, films, paper eating utensils, and some others.

If you have doubts about what you can ship, get in touch with the permit officers of the individual railroads. These are special men assigned to deciding who can get a permit to ship something.

Pennies of Children To Help Pay Fine

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 6—(AP)—Coal field children are sending their Christmas pennies to John L. Lewis to help pay the $3,500,000 fine levied on the United Mine Workers, President William Blizzard of UMW district 17 said today.

The UMW leader said he had reports from Logan, Williamson and other fields of his district that children of miners were sending in their Christmas savings of "anywhere from five cents to 700 or 800 pennies."

Blizzard added that the contributions were being forwarder in the children's "own handwriting."

Nation Spends $520,000,000 On 'Sweet Tooth'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—The nation spent $520,000,000 for candy—on a wholesale price basis—to satisfy its sweet tooth during the first 10 months of this year.

The commerce department reported the figure today as the total of candy manufacturers' sales. No estimate of the final cost—at the candy counters—was available.

Layoffs as Strike Effects Are Increased

Thousands More Given in Industry And on Railroads

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 6—(AP)—An embargo on railroad freight shipments today climaxed the snowballing effects of the soft coal strike with an avalanche of new unemployment that sent the idleness total above 213,000 in related industries.

Tens of thousands of American workers were handed pre-Christmas layoffs as the 16-day stoppage gradually choked off the economic, social and educational life of the nation.

Predictions from across the country indicated more than 5,000,000 workers would be idle by New Year's if the coal strike is still in progress.

Meanwhile, the government planned more stringent conservation measures to save the meager coal supply, including an extension of the drastic brown-outs now observed in 21 eastern and midwestern states.

John D. Small, civilian production chief, glumly predicted: "We will have people cold within a week," because of the strike.

Work Some Small Mines

The miners, generally, were restive but apparently content to watch and wait for word from John L. Lewis. However, in Durango, Colo., 40-AFL-United Mine Workers at six small coal mines in the area reported back to work yesterday.

"We needed Christmas money," was the terse comment of the returned miners who included Frank Martinez, president of the local.

Ford Idles 20,000

Ford Motor Co. beginning layoffs that may spread to 500,000 automobile workers within a week or ten days, idled 20,000 employes at midnight last night and said 20,000 more will be released tonight because of the coal shortage.

A Ford spokesman said all 90,000 Ford workers will be out of work within two weeks.

The Budd company, which makes automobile bodies, announced that 12,000 to 14,000 employes of its Philadelphia and Detroit plants "might be laid off if the freight embargo continues long enough."

Railroads also again drastically slashed payrolls with 5,000 workers furloughed in Kentucky alone. Chesapeake and Ohio railroad said it will lay off an additional 2,421 men Monday, bringing the line's total idle to 7,121.

New York Central which has more than 3,500 workers already idle, said it will begin to lay off employes "in the thousands," beginning next week. The New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad planned to furlough 1,500 workers Monday.

The Union Pacific railroad laid off 2,660 employes.

The Knoxville and Southern railroad laid off 800 men and the Louisville and Nashville railroad 200. In nearby coal yards, 120 men were thrown out of work because their was no coal to handle. A fabricating division of Aluminum Company of America in Knoxville said it probably would close next Wednesday, idling 5,000 workers.

Cut by General Electric

General Electric laid off another 1,200 workers at its Schenectady, N. Y., plant last night to bring the unemployment total there to 3,000. GE's Erie, Pa., plant, which employes 13,000 workers or half of the city's working population, will close within two weeks because of the freight embargo, a company spokesman said.

Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp., with plants at Brackenridge and West Leechburg, Pa., has notified its 12,500 workers that the strike will bring work to a virtual standstill.

And in Chicago, the American Dairy Association, reported production and distribution of essential dairy products 'is being slowly strangled by the coal strike" and said already some milk and cheese plants have shut down.

New Emergency In Oakland

OAKLAND, Cal., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Oakland police were suddenly ordered back on emergency duty today as an air of confusion and suspicion developed in the aftermath of the two and a half day $14,000,000 general strike which ended yesterday morning.

An order placing the police department on emergency status came swiftly after the closing of two struck retail stores, original focal point of the general strike.

Earlier, a police department order was issued assigning a special squad to Kahn's department store and Hastings, the two stores. The order directed that pickets be limited to five before each doorway and that they be required to walk at least four and a half feet away from the store front.

The order was signed by Police Captain Ora Rhodes of the central division, who was in command of the special detail of twelve patrolmen, a sergeant and a lieutenant.

Meanwhile, no clear picture had developed by noon on conditions laid down in calling off the crippling general strike which affected 1,000,000 East Bay residents.

Delicate Brain Operation On Young Woman

May Transform Her Into A Useful Member Of Society

DETROIT, Dec. 6—(AP)—A delicate brain operation, which may transform a cigar-smoking, morally degenerate, 28-year-old woman into a useful member of society, was revealed today by staff doctors at Wayne County General Hospital in suburban Eloise.

An Attractive Woman

The woman, described by doctors as "attractive," has a sordid police record of commercial immorality, theft, mayhem and drug addiction that began when she was less than 10 years old.

She has spent 15 years of her life in penal institutions, according to Dr. Louis S. Lipschutz, clinical director of the hospital. Her name is a closely-guarded secret at Eloise.

Her case was reported to the Michigan Society of Neurology and Psychiatr with the authorization of Dr. Lipschutz and Dr. T. K. Gruber, superintendent of the hospital.

Claimed To Have Killed Two

The woman claimed to have killed two persons, including a former husband "because I wasn't going to let any other woman have him and I knew I couldn't keep him."

Dr. Lipschultz told reporters, however, that there is no evidence to support this homicidal claim.

The woman, picked up by Detroit police on a minor charge, was sent to the hospital on the strength of her long record which was documented by FBI offices from coast to coast, Dr. Lipschultz said.

"We had the choice of letting this woman continue in her present vicissitudes with every reason to expect that she would spend another 15 or even 30 years in institutions," he explained, "or of performing the operation."

With the consent of relatives, Dr. Arge Neilssen performed a frontal lobotomy, which Dr. Lipschutz said "severs the connection between the part of the brain responsible for planning and carrying out desires, and the other parts of the nervous system which translate them into action."

Thought Content The Same

"Her thought content will remain the same," the clinical director continued. "The abnormal idea will still be there. But if we were successful the push to translate these ideas into abnormal actions will not be there."

Following the operation about a month ago, the woman said her "outlook on life" had changed. Dr. Lipschutz said psychlogical tests, which he did not describe, prove that the woman, hitherto a confirmed liar, is now telling the truth.

Dr. Lipschutz said the operation is not new but that its application in such cases is relatively rare, as far as he knows. He has heard of others such cases, he said, but in all of them the patient either died "or the results were questionable."

The hospital's interest in the case centers in its possible application, if successful, to sex criminals.

"What damaging results the operation may have, as well as good, remains to be determined," Dr. Lipschultz concluded.

Increased Demand For Gas Looms

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Cities Service Gas company today introduced additional evidence at a Consolidated Federal Power Commission hearing to show that it expected an increased demand for the fuel in the Kansas City area.

The company, which plans a 26 inch pipeline from the Hugoton, Kas., gas field to Kansas City, is one of three companies seeking to build and extend lines. Previously the Mid-Continent Gas Transmission company of St. Paul had presented its evidence to support n application for a line 836 miles long from southwestern Kansas to Minnesota.

Riley M. Power, rate engineer for three distributing affiliates of Cities Service, predicted that in the next five years the companies would add 34,500 new customers for home heating; 65,800 home customers who will convert from coal to gas and 69 industrial consumers.

Boys Marooned On an Island

MIDDLETOWN, Pa., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Trapped by floes of ice, two youths have been marooned for five days on a small island in the middle of the Susquehanna river, state police disclosed here today.

The boys were identified as Galen Reed, 19, and Earl Kreiser, Jr., 17, both of nearby Royalton, who reached the island while on a trapping expedition.

Officials of the middletown air materials area said food would be dropped to the youths by plane as soon as a fog lifts.

Rescue efforts to date have failed, police said, because the 300 yards of ice between the mainland and island, known as Kohr's Isle, is too solid for passage of a boat and not firm enough for walking.

James H. Smith said a boat he used in a rescue attempt narrowly escaped crushing because of the moving ice.

No Inflation

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6—(AP)—To waiter Rudolph Frey the customer is always tight.

He testified before a U. S. judge in a tax case that a ten per cent tip seldom came with a meal check and that his take, in a good restaurant, averaged a nickel per customer.

Restrictions May be Made More Drastic

Dimout for Coal Burning Utilities Is a Prospect

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—The government is preparing to put even more drastic limits Monday on the use of coal and electricity by business firms, plants and cities to save coal.

But no plans are being made at this time to cut down on the use of electricity or coal in the homes, so the individual is not yet affected in home by the coal saving moves of the government

This is what the new orders will do Monday, if the coal strike is not over by then:

1. All coal burning utilities in the country and those linked up with coal-burning utilities will have to dim out. CPA said states most affected would be Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Alabama, Tennessee and Mississippi.

These restrictions will mean dimouts everywhere for stores, street lighting, and all outdoor electric displays, such as Christmas trees and other decoration.

Such a dimout already is in effect in 12 states and the District of Columbia.

2. When a utility's coal stocks drop to a 25 day supply, the company must notify CPA. In turn, CPA will attempt to channel more power or coal to the firm but any day after that notification is given, these tighter regulations may be put into effect:

Would Reduce Services

No outdoor floodlights for amusements or general sports; stores will have to reduce their indoor lighting 50 percent; elevator service will be cut 50 percent, where there's more than one elevator; a 40 percent cut in the use of electrical machines in non-essential businesses and industries.

(Essential places would be hospitals, newspapers and others. Local authorities know which are essential and which non-essential.)

3. Electric power and light companies — with more than a specified amount of coal — possibly a 60-day supply — will have to share their supplies with other utilities.

Much of the coke supply may go to makers of manufactured gas whose stock of coal — from which gas is made — is below a 15-day supply. This would put coke under control for the first time.

The government may require industries closed by the ban on non-essential freight shipments to give their coal supplies to essential users of coal still operating.

This information came from Edward Falck, chief of the civilian production administration's office of emergency control.

Still stiffer restrictions on use of electricity are in prospect, Flack said, if utility coal reserves drop to a 10-day supply.

Has Concern On Mob Action

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—President Truman, concerned over mob action and intolerance, has asked a committee of 15 to recommend ways of strengthening laws which guarantee civil rights.

On some recent occasions, the President said, in naming the group, "the local enforcement of law and order has broken down, and individuals—sometimes ex-service men, even women—have been killed, maimed or intimidated."

The President said it is the government's duty to act when lesser authorities fail to protect constitutional rights and "we must provide the department of justice with the tools to do the job."

His statement last night came at a time when a senate committee is hearing charges that Negroes were prevented from voting in this year's Mississippi democratic primary and the justice department is investigating recent lynchings in the south.

Mr. Truman appointed Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric company, as chairman of the civil rights committee.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., son of Mr. Truman's White House predecessor, is one of the members.

Seek a Liberal Labor Policy

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers feels that a liberal policy in dealing with labor is to the advantage of both labor and management, Earl Bunting, newly-elected N. A. M. president, told a press conference today.

Stating that the organization would approach "all the other problems facing our economy in this same liberal spirit," Bunting added:

"The present policy is the result of a lot of intense study. It's an evolutionary thing. It's more than an about-face, if there has been an about face. The present attitude is also the result of an abandonment of prejudices which some of us in the past have held."

Bunting will take office January 1, succeeding Robert W. Wason, outgoing president.

"Our principles are aimed right down the middle of the road," Bunting said. "At the last board meeting—it was held the day before the elections—we agreed not to be stampeded by any trend the elections might show."

The Lavish Spending Is Ending

Dime Tips And A Quiet Evening At Home Is Returning

By Dorothy Carew

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—(AP)—The dime tip, the practical gift and the quiet evening at home are staging a comeback from coast to coast.

Lavish spending in night clubs; widespread buying of luxurious gifts; week-end jaunts to favorite retreats and numerous other expensive pastimes that had become part and parcel of the rip-roaring war spending days are now exceptions rather than the rule.

Throughout the country men and women are approaching the Christmas season with a far more cautious attitude than they did a year ago. And surveys of trade associations and other groups indicate this is just the beginning.

Less free money, high prices, a feeling of uncertainty and the return of many needed types of goods are explanations offered for the drop-off in luxury spending. The coal strike has had some influence—but the caution had set in before the strike began, most spokesmen agreed.

Head waiters no longer count their night's "take" for good tables and service in the hundreds of dollars. Tips have dropped nearly to the pre-war level.

The customer who wandered into a retail store and paid cash for a $15,000 mink coast has disappeared. Christmas shoppers are examining price tags and are doing more "looking" than in many a year.

Liquor sales—one of the first signs of tightened purse-strings—are off from last year both in bars and package stores. There is no rush for high-priced scotch, bourbon and rye.

"There isn't that kind of money today," one industry spokesman said. "The customer still can spend $3 to $4 for neutral spirit blends and that is what he is buying."

Paul Henkel, president of the Society of Restaurateurs, said business had dropped at least 20 percent in the past few months "and every indication points to a further decrease."

Hotel week-end business has declined, said Leonard Hicks, president of the American Hotel Association. And guests staying in hotels for business or pleasure are spending less in bars and dining-rooms.

Restaurant, night club and hotel entertainment business was reported down 50 percent in the east, and theater attendance is off from the peak.

Most dramatic example of reduced luxury spending in retail stores has been in high-priced furs, with minks, persian lambs and beavers marked down sharply to arouse consumer interest. But the trend is evident throughout the entire luxury field.

"Customers today want to know what they are getting and that they are getting it at the right price," retailers generally agreed.

The United States consumes about 30,000,000,000,000 board feet of lumber every year.

January is the high month of the average year for fuel consumption.

Ask Russia To Support U. S. Plan

Anxious to Get Understanding on Control of the Atomic Bomb

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 6 —(AP)— The United States made a direct appeal to Russia last night for support of the American plan to control the atomic bomb and urged that the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission approve the plan before the end of the year.

Bernard M. Baruch, taking speedy advantage of a change in the Soviet attitude, as set forth earlier in the week by Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, looked straight at Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko in last night's commission sentence and declared:

"We seek especially the participation of the Soviet Union. We welcome the recent authoritative statements of its highest representatives. From these, we are justified in concluding that it no longer regards the original American proposals unacceptable, as a whole or in their separate parts, as its members of this body stated at an earlier meeting."

Need Time to Study

Gromyko's only immediate comment was that the commission needed time to study the proposal.

Baruch made it clear the United States would accept nothing less than agreement on its own plan.

"We welcome cooperation, but we stand upon our basic principles even if we stand alone," he said. "We aim at an effective plan of control and will not accept anything less."

Baruch, United States delegate to the commission since its inception, also agreed with numerous delegates who have stressed arms reduction debates before the U. N. political committee that if nations can control the atomic bomb they can go on from there to control other instruments of mass destruction.

He formally offered a resolution embodying the same ideas as originally set forth in his plan last June and called upon the commission to adopt and send it to the security council by January 1.

Baruch said these three elements were inherent in any treaty that would be written.

1. The erection of an international authority which shall effectively prevent the manufacture and use of atomic bombs for war purposes, and which shall develop the use of atomic energy for social gain.

2. The right of free and full international inspection in support of these purposes (now accepted by Russia).

3. The definite agreement that once a treaty becomes effective providing for deterrents against offenders and punishments for offenders, there can be no veto to protect wilful violators, or to hamper the operations of the International Authority.

Alexandre Parodi, of France, commission chairman, said the U. S. resolution would be turned over to one of the commission's working groups and would be taken up next week along with a report from its control committee. That group, along with scentific advisers, has been studying the exact safeguards necessary for any atomic plan.

Film Actress Files Against Husband

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6—(AP)—Film actress Ann Miller filed a double-barrelled legal action today against her wealthy husband, Reese Llewellyn Milner, scion of a socially prominent southern California family.

In one suit she asked for a divorce alleging that he had committed "acts of violence" against her and asked the court to restrain him from molesting her.

In a second suit she charged fraud, alleging that Milner conspired with others to trick her into signing away her rights to their $250,000 Holmby Hills house. She asked recovery of the home.

Milner promptly issued a statement to reporters: "I want to avoid any public discussion of the situation, but the charges in the complaints are such that I must emphatically deny them."

Conference of PTA at Boonville

The Sedalia district conference of the Parent-Teacher associations was held Thursday, December 5, at Boonville, Mo., with about 40 members from Sedalia attending.

An interesting program was presented during the day and at noon a luncheon was served at the Frederick hotel. Corsages were at each place as favors.

The meeting was a real success with more than one hundred fifty people present from over the district.

True Greatness

"Not the blood of all the thousands," it was once said, "can ennoble sots, or slaves, or cowards." Tens of thousands of humble men sweated, toiled, and died in the days of Egypt's power that the might of her rulers might be known forever. But the fame of the pharaohs is dust today, and history sees in the great pyramids mere monuments to the colossal folly of human dynasts. A modern counterpart was the empire that Nazism sought to build upon a foundation of death, misery, and degradation.

The salutary lesson of experience is that men cannot be truly exalted or ennobled by human honors or tributes. Greatness in a man comes from the things inside him—from the virtues of courage, fortitude, purity, and charity that may never win the acclaim of his fellows but which adorn him in the sight of God. The man who is fit to rank as lord of the earth is the man who seeks, in the words of St. John, "the glory which is from God alone."

Since greatness is only in the soul it follows that the standards of the world can never be the standards of God. If men would be measured by the yardstick of Christian perfection, they must seek the things that the world often dispises.

They must follow the teachings of sanctity, which leads to real greatness. They are the principles which have found expression in the lives of thousands of men and women whose fame and glory is eternal, while the pomp and splendor of the powerful of their time are vanished and forgotten. Each man is born for greatness, but it is a Christian paradox that the highest pinnacles are reached by those who walk in the valleys of humility.

Paul Admonishes the Churches
Scripture: I Corinthians 11:20-27; Romans 13:13-14; Ephesians 5:18-21

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The notion that the early Christian church was composed of pure and perfect Christians is one that is soon dispelled when one reads in the New Testament the epistles that were written to the churches not only by Paul, but also by Peter, James and John.

When one considers how unpopular and how subject to persecution was the new faith, it seems strange that any except the most sincere and unsullied should have joined the Christian group. But Paul's admonition against feeding those who would not work seems to indicate that there were in the early Christian community the sort of "converts" who in our time have been called "rice Christians" — idlers who sought to be parasites upon the abler and more prosperous members.

Paul was determined to check any abuse of the basic Christian principle of mutual love and mutual aid. Side by side with the tenet that Christians should bear one another's burdens, 'and so fulfill the law of Christ," he laid down the principle that "every man shall beat his own burden."

The converts to the Christian church were largely Gentiles, many of them former idolators, in cities full of licentiousness.

No doubt many of those who were drawn to the Christian way were inherently good souls, averse to their licentious and evil surroundings; but others were converts from evil ways of living. When Paul describes the evil life of those corrupt cities, he says, in writing to the Christians "and such were some of you."

But the fact that they had been washed of their sins did not prevent lapses into the evils of a tempting environment; and some apparently did not accept, or realize, the true nature of the Christian way. Always there have been those ready to corrupt the purity of Christian faith and practice with their own philosophies of ease and indulgence.

Intoxicating liquor, too, was evidently a source of temptation and disgrace to the first Christians, as it has been at all times. Paul warns against drunkenness and we may be sure that he would not have given the warning if it had not been needed.

Drink can make a fool of a normally good and well intentioned man quite as effectually as it can of a weakling or wastrel. But Paul had an antidote for the temptation to the intoxication of liquor; one filled with the Spirit could not yield to such temptation.

The man who had "put on the Lord Jesus" had a strength that could not be easily corrupted. Hence Paul's Epistles are constructive, a swell as reproving, in their admonitions. He made the Christian life alluring in its height, its joy and its glory.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"GOD THE ONLY CAUSE AND CREATOR" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 8, 1946.

Golden Text: Acts 4:24.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "All thy works shall praise thee, O Lord; and thy saints shall bless thee. They shall speak of the glory of thy Kingdom, and talk of thy power;" (Psalms 145: 10, 11). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is but one creator and one creation. This creation consists of the unfolding of spiritual ideas and their identities, which are embraced in the infinite Mind and forever reflected. These ideas range from the infinitesimal to infinity, and the highest ideas are the sons and daughters of God." (p. 502).

Trautman's Influence Soothing

To Major-Minor League Baseball Quarrels and Feuds

By Ted Smites

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6—(AP)—The minor leaguers' resentment against their big brothers disappeared today under the general influence of George Trautman, new boss of all baseball outside the National and American leagues.

Elected unanimously to succeed 72-year-old Judge W. G. Bramham as president of the National Association at $25,000 yearly, Trautman was described as "a man who has the confidence of independents and others."

Reflecting this harmonious trend the minors were called back into session, after a "final" adjournment yesterday, to thresh out differences of opinion over the major-minor league working agreement developing behind the closed conference doors .

Trautman, 55-year-old executive vice president of the Detroit Tigers, divided his attention between the separate major and minor meetings. Bramham remains as "consultant" at $10,000 yearly.

The majors ,after announcing a general 1947 opening date of April 15, and a closing date of Sept. 28, thereby fixing the season again at 154 games, took up minor league proposals for revision of existing rules. The proposal for 168 games in 1947 had developed strong opposition, and chiefly because it would upset all records.

The present major-minor working agreement expires Jan. 12, 1947, and unless a new one is adopted the old one will be automatically renewed. This agreement covers waivers, options, rights of players and clubs and the general legislative side of baseball.

Yesterday's session of the National Association rejected a proposal for standard baseball in all leagues. A resolution to dissolve the association and place all baseball under Commissioner A. B. Chandler was indefinitely and unanimously tabled.

Volunteers Been On the Decline

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Despite an "abrupt and continuing" decline in the number of volunteers, the war department has announced it will draft no men in January, 1047.

A statement yesterday said the draft holiday, inaugurated last mid-October, would be extended an additional month because the army is now temporarily overstrength.

The department reported that there are about 1,200,000 effectives on the rolls, plus about 250,000 "ineffectives"—men on terminal leave in hospitals, or other unavailable for duty. This number is to be reduced to approximately 1,310,000 by December 31, and to 1,070,000 by mid-1947.

The announcement made no mention of a February draft call, but officials hinted a substantial one would be necessary if voluntary enlistments do not pick up. Present army requirements call for an average of 37,000 new men each month.

In the five weeks before the draft was suspended in mid-October, there were 90,053 voluntary enlistments, of which 87,390 were from civil life and 2,663 from prior service. In the five weeks immediately following draft suspensions, the number of volunteers dropped to 27,384, of which 24,675 were from civil life and 2,710 from prior service.

Jacobs Boxing's Biggest Gambler With Own Money

Joe Louis and Mike Jacobs brought out each other. It was personal triumph for shrewd Jacobs when he took over boxing at Madison Square Garden, Oct. 29, 1937. Fighters even kissed promoter, as Arturo Godoy is doing at Garden, Feb. 9, 1940, when they stayed 15 rounds with Louis. Even happier is manager Al Weill. Uncle Mike was obviously failing when he flexed Tony Zale's muscles before middleweight champion's savage knockout of Rocky Graziano at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 27, the old Broadway ticket speculator's last outdoor promotion.

Ample Supply of Christmas Trees

NEW YORK, Dec. 6— (AP) — While some gifts to scatter about the family Christmas tree might be missing this year because of the freight embargo which became effective at 12:01 a. m., today, the trees themselves will be in good supply, dealers predicted.

The dealers explained that arrangements were made to move the balsam trees ahead of schedule. The advance shipping date will not harm the trees which generally are cut some months before and held for the Christmas season.

Industry spokesmen also explained that any car loaded and accepted by station agents in northern areas by last midnight was guaranteed to roll to its destination.

Resigns as Coach At Central College

FAYETTE, Mo., Dec. 6—(AP)—Fred W. Faurot, director of athletics and head football coach at Central college, today resigned from the post, saying he planned to enter private business. His resignation is effective January 1.

Faurot, who formerly played football at Northeast Missouri State Teachers college and the University of Missouri, coached at the Kirksville school and Parsons college, Fairfield, Iowa, before entering the navy.

Dr. Harry S. Devore, president of the college, said no decision had been reached on a successor for Faurot.

'Red' Blaik is 'Coach of Year'

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—(AP)—Earl (Red) Blaik, mentor of the famed Army squad that went unbeaten during the last three seasons, today was named "coach of the year" in the poll of coaches conducted by the New York World Telegram and the Scripps Howard newspapers.

A. eleven which completed a ter game schedule unbeaten and which will oppose Illinois in the Rose Bowl tilt New Year's Day. The Pacific pilot received 53 first place nominations to nose out Arkansas' John Barnhill by two votes.

Notre Dame's Frank Leahy, winner of the award five years ago, finished fourth with 30 votes. Others to finish high up were Wally Butts, Georgia, 23; Ray Eliot, Illinois, 16; George Sauer, Kansas, 9; Jess Neely, Rice, Dana X. Bible, Texas, and Ducky Pond, Bates, eight each.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6—(AP)—R. C. Pollock, superintendent of the International Live Stock Exposition's meat division, viewed with a butcher's eye the more than 10,000 cattle, sheep and swine on display.

PORTLAND, Me., Dec. 6—(AP)—A. L. Somers, who sold Portland's recently-installed parking meters, called on city manager Lyman S. Moore yesterday to find out how they were working out.

He spent nearly an hour listening to Moore laud the meters, but he didn't get the whole story until he left.

On his car, beside a "time expired" meter, was a police traffic ticket.
